Senator Walsh Addresses Delegates—Lowell Man
on Executive Committee

FITCHBURG, Oct. 22.—In an address before 150 delegates of the 20th annual convention of the Massachusetts Police Association, yesterday, United States Senator David I. Walsh expressed deep disappointment over the smallness of the recent increase in compensation granted to letter carriers, stating that, while the cost of living had increased nearly 50 percent, an increase of only 20 percent had been given to postoffice employees.

For an hour and 20 minutes, the senator kept the attention of all those present, discussing the duties and compensation received of government employees, school teachers and police men, making a comparison with the present living conditions.

After an automobile tour about the city and surrounding towns, the delegates returned to headquarters and resumed the official business of the convention.

The elevation of officers for the ensuing year took place in the afternoon. Deputy Chief of Police Thomas J. Murray of Worcester, president, and Michael McDermott of Fall River, vice president, were re-elected, with Albert D. White of New Bedford, treasurer; Leon J. Joy of Worcester, secretary; and Charles McCarthy of Boston as sergeant-at-arms, as the new officers of the association.

The executive committee for the coming year will be composed of the following members: William F. Flanagan of North Adams, Edward F. Flanagan of Lowell, Thomas J. Godley of Springfield, William H. Hoffman of Lawrence, Inspector Wright of Lynn, John A. Shugrue of Newton, William C. Murphy, a member of the Metropolitan police, William Armistage of Wellesley.

By a unanimous vote it was decided to hold the convention of 1921 in Fall River.

The two days' session adjourned at 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon. A rising vote of thanks was given to the committee on arrangements. B. J. Flaherty, chairman for the splendid reception and entertainment given during the convention.

COAKLEY CALLS ON IRISH TO SUPPORT COX

BOSTON, Oct. 22.—Daniel H. Coakley, the Boston attorney, who took a prominent part in the proceedings of the democratic convention, and who yesterday made a contribution of $5000 to the democratic campaign fund, issued the following statement last evening:

Attacks Coalition

"I see that Mr. Demarest Lloyd, prime minister of the Loyal Coalition, fires his pop-gun at the democratic candidate for president, Governor James M. Cox.

"This is not surprising, because as the prime minister says, the coalition is neither a publican nor democratic. Everyone knows that. It is British. If the Prime Minister Lloyd had not fired his pop-gun over my shoulder I would pay no attention to him.

"But he refers to me alone when he says, 'One of the spokesmen' of the hyphen element proclaimed when starting for the national democratic convention that (they) are not interested in platforms or candidates, but only in Ireland."

"First—The fact that the prime minister misquotes me I waive. The misquotation is not surprising either, nor important.

"The element now flying the Union Jack from the towers of the Loyal coalition are the same people who first put the hyphen into American politics when it served their purpose to make distinctions between American citizens who were of Jewish, Italian, French, Irish, German, Russian and Polish blood on the one hand and English on the other. Now they want to take the hyphen out to prevent the hyphen element from doing to the Harding-Coolidge-Lloyd George outfit what it did to the Hindenburg line.

"The function of the hyphen is to connect, to unite, not to divide and separate. Let the hyphen element alone. Mr. Prime Minister. It saved the British hide once. You may need its help again.

"The hyphen looks good to me with the word 'American' at either end of it, for this used it connects the superb fusion of alien bloods, which make up the great American race.

"As one of that race, I refuse to support Ireland's appeal in her struggle to be free, as is stoutly supported by the loyal coalition. Lloyd George was backed up yesterday by the British parliament in his determination to devastate and destroy my mother's homeland. Personally, I don't like a League of Nations, but there will be a league in my opinion, which ever party wins.

"With Mr. Cox in the presidency, when the League is complete, Ireland's cause will have his support. He has said so.

"With Mr. Harding at the helm of our ship of state, Ireland will struggle and shrink in vain. He has said so.

"Between these two men, every American son of an Irish mother will stand by Cox, who says 'I will and against the man who says 'I won't.'"

COCKRAN ANSWERS G. O. P. ON LEAGUE

CHICAGO, Oct. 22.—W. Bourke Cockran, here to speak last night in favor of the League of Nations, replied to a statement issued by republican national headquarters asserting that he had switched from the stand he took before the senate foreign relations committee a year ago.

"I stand now where I stood before the senate committee," Mr. Cockran declared. "The need of the world, is disarmament. Nothing but complete disarmament can arrest the peril that now threatens not merely to destroy the prosperity of our country but to engulf the very existence of the human race. The only deserters from the Irish cause are those persons who are keeping the torch alight in Ireland by standing for Harding against the league and against disarmament. With all armaments abolished English misrule over Ireland would terminate in a night."

Mr. Chester E. Durant, formerly of this city and now of New Castle, Penn., and Miss Alice M. Wolford, also of New Castle, were married October 9 by Mr. Gresh, the ceremony being performed at the bride's home. Miss Choate was one of the two republicans seeking seats in the republican national convention as Hoover delegates. Now she refuses to follow Hoover because of Harding's league stand.

GOV. COOLIDGE SPEAKS AT CHARLOTTE, N. C.

CHARLOTTE, N. C., Oct. 22.—America is synonymous with service, declared Governor Coolidge in an address here yesterday brimful of allusions to the honor and dignity of work. He said he spoke of service in the spiritual as well as the material sense and continued: "That people will fail which devotes itself exclusively to the accumulation of wealth and which makes property the chief end of man. That people will become strong and vigorous whose work is measured by the ideals of right and justice and liberty."

The republican party, he said, "cherishes no delusions that any scheme of government or any change in the organization of society could relieve the people from the necessity of work. The rules of nature cannot be set aside. Observed they point the way to success and character. Successful democracy, he said, can be achieved only at the price of 'constant effort.' It is a law to disregard which, he continued, 'is to invite destruction and anarchy' and to observe which is to 'develop power and government.'"

The American people, the governor went on, have always exalted labor, whether of the head or mind. The old Europe, he said, sharply differentiated between its peoples and established their rank and social position by the kind of work performed. "We shall have no such artificial standard here," he said. "To us the tiller of the soil and the skilled mechanic are measured by the same regard as are the doctor or lawyer or banker. We demand that each of us shall do his work and do it with all his skill and might and energy. And we can demand promptly in return that the conditions under which the work is done shall be fair and decent, with adequate reward for accomplishment."

Touching on the alleged need of greater production which, he described as "the sure cure of profiteering," he said:

"The world is never very far ahead of starvation. Bitter experience has shown us the mere shade that exists between fuel and freezing. We, who have the fields and the mines and who are blessed with order under law, have a supreme duty to ourselves and to humanity as a whole. That duty is to secure maximum output in agriculture and industry and in return to pay the reward to which such action is justly entitled. Production is a moral obligation as well as a material necessity. It is the sure cure of

DENIES U. S. OPPOSES IRISH IMMIGRATION

WASHINGTON, Oct. 22.—America has taken no action to discourage Irish immigration, under Secretary of State Davis said yesterday. He was discussing the statement in the British parliament yesterday by Sir Hamar Greenwood, chief secretary for Ireland, that this country no longer welcomed immigration from Ireland because it did not desire to swell the total of disturbing elements in the United States.

"The Irish are about as good as any immigrants," Mr. Davis said.

DEVICES TO RESCUE ENTOMBED MINERS

CHARLESTON, W. Va., Oct. 22.—The West Virginia bureau of mines which is credited by experts with the best equipment in the country for rescuing entombed miners has just added to its outfit for that work three new pieces of apparatus—a geophone, a carbon monoxide detector and a brass encased thermometer.

The geophone is similar to a physician's stethoscope. As the stethoscope is used to detect irregularities in the human body by sound, so the geophone is used to detect earth sounds. In this way entombed miners can be located noting the direction from which the sound vibrations come.

The brass-encased thermometer records maximum and minimum temperatures whereby it can be ascertained when it is safe to enter mines sealed to smother fires. Hitherto, it has been a problem to know when to enter the shafts, but with the thermometer dropped through a hole in the barricade, this can be determined easily.

U. S. TO PROTECT DIPLOMATS' BAGGAGE

WASHINGTON, Oct. 22.—(By the Associated Press) Secretary Colby said yesterday that the state department was determined to protect the baggage of the diplomatic representatives of foreign nations from search by customs officials. He declared that if necessary, the department would invoke the principle of international law, which he said was older than the constitution of the United States.

Mr. Colby would not say whether the department would have recourse to injunction proceedings, explaining

by Olive Roberts Barton

NICK'S BUSY DAY

When everything was ready and it was time for the Meadow Grove folks to start to the picnic grounds under the willow tree beside Lily pond, Mr. Scribble Scratch sent Nick around with his turtle and his daddy to collect baskets.

to make the day as happy as possible. Nick climbed trees in a twinkling, with his magical Green Shoes, and got the baskets belonging to Mrs. Chick Cheese, Mrs. Owl, Mrs. Squirrel, Mrs. Bill Blackbird (who hadn't packed to go south yet), Mrs. Thousand-Legger and all the others. It was a wonder at it. He'd get a basket, slide down the tree, set it on the ground, and go up after another. After he'd got all the baskets from Maple-Tree Plains, and Old-Oak Apartments, and all the other overland dwellings, he knocked on Mrs. Woodchuck's door, and Mrs. Bunny's. Mrs. Mink's and all the others who lived underground.

Mr. Forty Turtle and his son, Tug, said they thought they'd start in the express business, they were so loaded down with baskets and baskets, and things.

When everything was collected, Nick scurried on ahead to help Nancy and left the turtles to take their own time which was an unwise thing to do, because you know how very unreliable turtles are. If I wished to send my marketing home for 12 o'clock lunch, I'd never depend upon a turtle, should you?

But anyway, Nick went on ahead, because the Otters had told him they had a sliding board which the picnicers could use if they would put some slippery mud on it. Nick knew where there was a lot of perfectly lovely mud and off he skidded to get some. (Copyright, 1920, N.E.A.)

MRS. ELLA LEFTWICK, another Kansas City woman whose remarkable restoration by Tanlac has astonished her neighbors, many of whom have begun taking the Master Medicine. "They all agree with me that it is the greatest medicine on earth," says Mrs. Leftwick.

DENOUNCE GERMAN FOOD CONTROLLER

BERLIN, Oct. 22.—Food Controller Hermes' opposition to the admission into Germany of the 5,000 cows donated by American farmers and against the importation of flour from America, said to have been offered by New York bakers has aroused the wrath of some of the liberal newspapers of Berlin.

They charge the food controller with interfering with the negotiations which have complicated the negotiations with the American company which is assembling the cows donated by American farmers and declare that the ministerial pedantry which threatened for a time to deprive Germany of the American gift of cows will be made the object of interpellation in the Reichstag.

The food controller demurred to accepting the cows on the ground that their transportation across the Atlantic was not feasible and that there was a shortage of fodder for them here.

This critics say that if the Americans could send across the ocean 1,500,000 soldiers with fighting equipment and food they ought to be able to move 5,000 cows across. They add that the cows will only take the place of those delivered to France and Belgium which would have been fed in Germany.

The food controller's opposition to uncontrolled importation of American

"A number of my friends, also seeing the wonderful good Tanlac did me, began taking the medicine, and now they all agree with me that it is the greatest medicine on earth," said Mrs. Ella Leftwick, 722 Pine St., Kansas City, Kans.

"Tanlac completely restored my health," she said, "and just seemed to give me a new lease on life. If I could talk personally with every woman suffering as I did, I would urge them to take this medicine."

"For the first time in three years I am able to eat and enjoy three hearty meals every day and not suffer in the least with indigestion afterwards. I am never troubled now with the awful smothering spells that used to frighten me so much, and the dreadful headaches that came upon me every day have been entirely broken up."

"I was extremely nervous and couldn't sleep well, but now my nerves are in splendid shape, and I sleep like a child every night. My strength has been so wonderfully increased that I can now do all the housework in my eight-room house and attend to the children besides. I feel just splendidly all the time now. Tanlac is certainly worth its weight in gold."

Tanlac is sold in Lowell by Greens Drug Store, Merrimack Square, under the personal direction of a special Tanlac representative and by the leading druggist in every town.—Adv.

Sept. 17, 1920.

Dear Sirs: For three years I have suffered with a very bad case of stomach trouble and tuberculosis of the right lung. The doctor told me that only a change of climate would help me. One of the sisters at the hospital here recommended Sister Mary's Compound and it has done wonders for me. I can eat and sleep a great deal better and cough is not so severe and have less of it. I am going to keep on using your Sister Mary's Compound until I am entirely cured.

WHITE HOUSES IN EUROPE

Penn. Congressman Would Reproduce Capitol in Every Capital Housing American Legation

PERKINS, Oct. 22.—Americans traveling abroad would one day have the gratification of seeing a reproduction of the White House in every capital housing the American legation or embassy, if the dream of Representative Stephen C. Perkins, of Pennsylvania, chairman of the house foreign relations committee ever came true.

It was with this in mind, he said on his recent visit to Peking, that he put through the measure raising passport visa fees from $2 to $15, on the theory that those who travel and thus avail themselves of our diplomatic establishment in foreign parts should pay for the privilege.

The representative further proposed to build the White Houses by employment of American labor. It was suggested that such a plan might involve needless expense, especially in China, where the American would compete with coolie labor, but Mr. Perkins contended that in a matter where sentiment was concerned, the additional expense was not worth considering.

NEW GOLD FIELDS FOUND IN RUSSIA

BERLIN, Oct. 22.—Discoveries of new gold fields in different parts of Russia are reported by a German trade journal.

In Buchara (Afghan frontier) on the upper waters of the Amu-Darya and its tributaries, rich placer-gold deposits are reported to have been located and further successful prospecting has been made on the Safeti-Darya and Yatchan.

Placer-gold has also been discovered in the Ussuri district in the Ikon Basin (Eastern Siberia).

In several other parts of Siberia prospectors have lately found not only placer-gold but rich gold-bearing quartz, say the reports.

FEDERAL INDICTMENTS AGAINST ARMOUR CO.

NEW YORK, Oct. 22.—A federal indictment containing 127 counts was returned here yesterday against Armour & Co., Chicago packers, and various officers of the concern, charging profiteering in violation of the Lever act.

Individuals indicted were J. Ogden Armour, president of the company; S. Edson White, vice president; Herbert H. Phillips, manager of the dressed beef department in Chicago; Arthur H. van Pelt, New York district superintendent; Charles N. Meyer and Will A. Mettsche.

The indictment, returned after an extended inquiry conducted by a representative of the attorney general's office, charged the defendants with selling different lots of New Zealand lamb costing 18.46 cents per pound for 24 to 26 cents. These alleged prices were held to be unreasonable.

a statement commenting on the federal indictments returned in New York yesterday charging profiteering. The statement follows:

"We are at a loss to understand these New York indictments. The reasonableness of profits cannot be judged by consideration of a few transactions. We made some money through the sale of New Zealand lambs but we did not make enough on them to offset the losses we sustained in the sale of domestic lambs, and with our lamb business as a whole showing a loss, it seems a rather bitter joke to indict us for making too much money. The net result of the

New Zealand lamb business was to give consumers meat for less money than they would otherwise have had to pay."

HE'S AN IMMIGRANT

Lil' Ol' Foxy Long Ears Emigrated to the United States From Africa

This cute little rascal is a fox, probably the first of his kind to emigrate to the U. S. A. Landed recently in New York from Africa, and already is Americanized so thoroughly that he'll play with a large baseball a thoughtful boy tossed into the cage.

The African fox is noted chiefly for his ears. They're the longest and largest ears in the whole fox family. Indeed, this bit of fur is mostly extra.

In his African jungle home the long-eared fox (Cape fox) needed good ears to give him warning of an enemy's approach.

That was all he needed, for his fine running legs took him out of the danger zone.

In his new American cage, Long

Ears isn't afraid. He's a playful fellow, and wouldn't go out of his way to attack anything more than twice his size.

DRIVERS OF AUTOS

Traffic Officers Are Interviewed by Sun Reporter

"Are women more careful than men in driving automobiles?" was the question put to some of the local traffic officers by a Sun reporter today. "It's about 50-50," said one. "We give the women the preference in directing traffic," replied another and still another said: "The women are by far the worst when it comes to comparison."

From statements of the officers it seems there are many good women chauffeurs in this city and some who are more careful and efficient than men, but on the other hand there are a great many who will never become good drivers. In the words of the officers, if they drive an automobile all their lives. Women are easily unnerved, the officers claim, and it is with that type of woman driver that the most trouble is experienced. Other women are particularly slow at catching traffic signals and because of their slowness in sizing up situations they cause many traffic jams. But according to the officer who made the 50-50 statement, women drivers nearly always give the traffic officer a look for his signal.

"On the whole," this officer claims, "the women generally pay more attention to auto laws than the men, but because of their conscientiousness in trying to obey the law and traffic rules they become nervous and thus liable to trouble."

"In regard to the men," said one traffic general, "it is not infrequent that we see business men driving automobiles, seemingly so engrossed in thought that they drive through the streets unmindful of what is going on about them and even of our signals. Many of these same business men return later and apologize for having passed without waiting for the traffic signal, saying that they were thinking and forgot."

"Men Drivers," continued officer No. 2, "on trucks or automobiles having occasion to travel through the business sections frequently give hardly any bother at traffic points because we nearly always know where they are going and they co-operate in an exchange of signals. Then there are those young fellows reckless by nature, who try to make auto rules of their own, but after one warning they usually take care."

"I could point out many men drivers in this city," said another, "who are totally unfit to drive automobiles and who should be kept off the highways. You don't find that class among the women chauffeurs, for the main difficulty with them is in understanding the traffic regulations."

A humorous phase of the question was revealed when one traffic director stated that the good-looking young girls with a smile are the best drivers and always get the first signal to go ahead.

"Some of the worst drivers of automobiles, whether they be men or women," asserted two policemen, "are those phoning out-of-town machines. They give more bother and cause more traffic jams than the average man or woman driver of Lowell. They do not wait for signals, they cut corners, they drive on the wrong side of the street and drive fast."

Then the officers told that they give

old women pedestrians crossing the streets careful attention and that old women nearly always look for this attention. Because many men do not do likewise they have some very narrow escapes from injury. Women apparently on shopping tours, carrying bags and hurrying about the walks, frequently step into the streets absent-mindedly directly into the path of the rushing traffic.

Once a man, crossing Merrimack square while reading a paper, walked into the path of a machine and was so startled when the officer and people yelled at him that he jumped onto the hood of the oncoming machine and was carried for about 25 feet.

"If pedestrians would be more careful, a well known traffic officer declared, "drivers would not be termed so reckless."

The traffic officers also serve as information bureaus. They are asked some of the silliest questions, they claim, and queries always seem to come just at the busiest time when they are breaking their backs keeping the ways clear.

"What's the way to Nashua?" asked one driver recently.

"Up this street, then to the left and take the first street across the river."

"Well, how do I get across the river?" the stranger asked while the officer stood waving his arms.

"I wouldn't tell you to go that way if you had to swim," replied the officer. "There's a bridge there."

TO FINANCE FARMERS

Move Demands New Methods of Extending Credit, Says Los Angeles Banker

WASHINGTON, Oct. 22.—Financing the farmers of the country in the marketing of their crops demands new methods of extending credit so as to prevent unjust price depreciation. Henry M. Robinson, a banker of Los Angeles, who was chairman of the United States bimetallic coin commission, declared today in addressing the convention of the American Bankers' association, a change in the bankers' point of view and the establishment by producers of co-operative marketing agencies were suggested as means for improving present conditions.

"There are many evidences," declared Mr. Robinson, "of growing dissatisfaction on the part of the producers of many commodities that they are being discriminated against by bankers. There is constant agitation by such producers for an extension of the principle of co-operative marketing to remedy or at least relieve the situation. Bankers must meet this problem. There must be a modification of the old attitude. Whether this should be done through banking machinery or through proper co-operative marketing remains to be decided. However, some method must be devised for reducing the pressure on the producer which forces him to dispose of his crop, either at the moment the harvest is completed or while the movement is under way, as this has been too often used as a means for price depreciation. Methods also must be discovered for lowering the cost of financing him."

The tendency of the co-operative organizations of producers is toward use of their great power to the disadvantage of other producers, Mr. Robinson said.

Regarding current practices in the movement of grain and cotton, Mr. Robinson said:

"For many years it has been accepted as a part of the obligation of the banks of the country to finance the movement and storage of grain, but no commodity, considering its importance, has shared as little in the financial resources of the country as has cotton. This is principally due to the lack of adequate warehouse system in the production area and lack of an open market for paper issued against the product."

"Insufficient effort has been made to place cotton and its storage on a basis of credit in a form that would be readily marketable on its own merit."

"The difficulties of financing even legitimate holdings of such commodities as grain and cotton, for the purpose of conducting a movement in an active and orderly way, are becoming increasingly greater and more complex and bankers must use their best thought to see that each producer receives a fair share of the available credit and bears its fair share of the burden and pressure when a credit shortage exists."

"In the present emergency, requiring the rationing of credits, a measure of financial support proportionate to cotton's contribution to the credit resources of the country, and with proper consideration for the delays in moving exportable surplus because of the low ebb of European credit, should be given."

DANGEROUS MOTORMAN

os Aboard Burning, naway Car and Applies
the Brakes

An outboard, one-man car going up Third street last night became disabled at the corner of Beech and Third streets, on the brink of the hill, and in spite of the courageous efforts of Motorman Patrick J. McNamara to stop it, coasted wildly down the hill, with all hand brakes on but with the wheels sliding over the leaf-covered tracks. The efforts of the motorman to stop the car proved futile until the corner of Bridge and Third streets was reached when it was brought to a stop.

The car had nearly reached the turn from Third into Beech street when an overheated motor burst into flames. About 20 passengers in the car were ordered out and the motorman attempted to put out the fire. The blaze was so far under the car that it could not be reached by hand. Lieut. David Petrie of the police, who happened to be there at the time, sent in a call to the fire department from a nearby house, but while he was telephoning the air brakes of the car gave way and it started dashing down the hill.

The motorman jumped aboard and applied all the hand brakes. The car had gained such momentum, however, that the wheels continued to slide over the wet tracks and the car did not stop until it reached Bridge street. The reports of witnesses of the accident are that if Motorman McNamara had not jumped aboard and applied the hand brakes there would have been a serious accident. If the car had gone down the hill with no brakes on, it would have jumped the tracks in the curve at Bridge street and dashed into the buildings at the opposite side of the street. The fire apparatus arrived just as the car was brought to a stop. The deed of Motorman McNamara, said Lieut. Petrie this morning, "deserves the highest commendation. Nothing that can be said in his behalf is too good for his courageous actions."

KEEPING BUSY

Painters of Public Property Department Working on Memorial Building—Carpenters Busy

Painters of the public property department are engaged in painting the exterior of the window frames of the Memorial building and are also doing considerable painting inside the building. The carpenters of the department are working on the new addition to the Vocational school in Broadway and on the new portable school being erected in the Edison school yard. During the past few months all rooms in the Green, Edison, Lincoln and Washington schools have been renovated, the dark green paint on the walls being replaced by buff color. The change has made a decided improvement in the lighting effect of the rooms. It is said, as the lighter colored walls have made it unnecessary to resort to artificial illumination on dark days.

Cabinet to End Tie Up

sion, and it was understood they expected a reply from the premier to the communication sent him yesterday, giving him to understand that the railway men would quit work Sunday at midnight, unless the strike was settled by tomorrow or negotiations which would effect a settlement had been begun.

Meanwhile the government and some of the miners' leaders were exploring the ground in an effort to find some basis for an adjustment.

Robert Williams, general secretary of the transport workers, announced that the transport men "look upon the danger of the enrollment of volunteers, especially from the middle class and white guards of the community, as of more provocation than the use of troops."

Consequently, continued the announcement, the transport men are considering the granting of permits, in the event of an extension of the coal strike, by which the appropriate trade unions would provide the necessary food for the community.

Premier Lloyd George and the members of the cabinet were consulting informally today with a view to finding a channel for a settlement.

Opinion generally expressed in government circles was that a definite opportunity for negotiations would be found before any serious development arose from the threats of the railroad men and transport workers.

Ready for Emergency

In the house of commons, Edward Shortt, the home secretary, gave notice of the presentation of a bill to make exceptional provision for the protection of the community in cases of emergency.

The parliamentary committee of the Trades Union congress has called a conference for Wednesday next of the executives of the affiliated unions to consider methods of helping the miners in their effort to settle the strike.

The railwaymen decided to invite the miners' executive to a meeting tomorrow. The miners' executive will meet tomorrow to consider the invitation and the general situation.

Frank Hodges of the Miners' union, announced today that nothing was known there regarding any appeal for assistance to the international organization of the miners. No efforts had been made to approach Americans in connection with the miners' strike, he added.

Serious economic conditions are already becoming evident in some localities as a result of the miners' strike, and there is a widening circle of idleness that causes concern. Drastic restriction of railroad and shipping schedules has already been ordered, and many industrial plants have been forced to close because of lack of fuel.

Strike in Brussels

BRUSSELS, Oct. 22.—The strike movement among the Charleroi coal miners, where 2000 men went out yesterday, will probably be followed by the railway postoffice men, street car employees and metal and gas workers. It was predicted in labor circles today. The movement is one of protest against the payment of an income tax.

the largest and most complete quarters of any legion post in this state. Through the generosity of the former directors of the Community Service and of the trustees of the First Presbyterian church, owners of the building, the American Legion is given the use of the building rent free, until October 1, 1921.

The building was leased by Community Service, Inc. from the trustees of the First Presbyterian church and last night the use of the building for the rest of the term of the lease which expires in March, 1921 was donated to the Legion by representatives of the trustees. From March 1921 until Oct. 1, 1921, the trustees of the First Presbyterian church have donated the use of the building, rent free, to the Legion. The building is solely for the use of Legion members and attempts will be made to defray expenses from profits derived from the bowling alleys, billiard tables and from other activities which will be run from time to time. The money for the salaries of the building manager and the janitor has been given to the Legion post by Community Service. The formal opening of the Legion clubhouse will be held on Armistice Day, November 11 when all quarters will be thrown open to the inspection of the public. The administration of the building is in charge of the house committee of the Legion comprising Joseph A. Mulloy, chairman; Michael H. Harrington, Fred A. Estes, George Toye and Stephen Kearney. John J. Walsh, former club director for the Community Service, has been elected club manager for the Legion quarters.

In the basement of the building, which is a four-story structure, there are four modern bowling alleys, a set of up-to-date shower baths and a heating plant. On the street floor there is a large lounge and reading room, toilets, billiard room, administration office of the local legion post, office of the chief of the office of the Legion Ladies' Auxiliary, naturalization office of the chamber of commerce, office of the principal of the K. of C. Service school, office of the state examiner for chauffeurs' licenses. On the second floor there is the auditorium and gallery with seating capacity of 600 persons. The room formerly used as a dormitory, will possibly be fitted out as a gymnasium next spring. There are more shower baths on this floor. The plumbing throughout is modern and the building is heated by steam. The legion will retain the modern kitchen used by community service in connection with the restaurant for banquets and so on. The westerly end of the building has been given up to the K. of C. by the house committee for the establishment of class rooms for the service school. Five rooms on the second and third floors will be used for this purpose.

CADETS DIDN'T DUCK

The O.M.T. cadets wish it to be understood that they did not "duck" their game with the Indians second team, for they have one scheduled for Sunday afternoon, October 31. As for not wanting to play, the cadets had to go looking for the game with the Indians. The cadets are willing to play the Indians on Sunday, which is possible because the manager of the latter team has agreed to a postponement to a later date so that the Cadet-Indian game could be played. The manager of the cadets would like to meet the manager of the Indians on the fair grounds this evening at 6:30 o'clock to make arrangements for the game.

pany has been anticipated for some time by the employees, for it was at their request that such action was taken. Because of market conditions and the lack of orders several months ago a great number of the employees of the plant were released and a few weeks ago the underwear departments of the plant shut down tight. It was announced at that time that as soon as present orders were filled the hosiery department would also shut down. Shortly after the underwear end of the mill ceased operations, so Mr. Walker claims, about 25 per cent. of his help requested him to reopen the mill. The operatives were willing to stand a cut-down in wages rather than be without work. The request was taken under consideration by the mill officials and today it was announced that a readjustment of wages would become operative next Monday.

Agent Walker stated this morning that the company has no orders on hand at present and he said the 300 employees who are now working are finishing up the production started some time ago. He expected they would wind up their work this week, but it seems that it will be some time yet before everything is cleaned up and it is hoped before that time there will be a market for the goods. "If business comes in," said Mr. Walker, "we will keep the hosiery end of the mill in operation and if the orders warrant it we will reopen our underwear department."

Ipswich Hosiery

The Ipswich hosiery in Warren street, employing about 600 people, will reopen its doors next Monday after being closed since Oct. 6. The assistant superintendent of the plant stated this morning that all help are to report Monday morning and all will be put to work but he could not state what the working hours would be.

Lowell Hosiery

It was rumored this morning that the Lowell hosiery in Broadway, which has been closed since the early part of July, would start up again next Monday and that a readjustment of wages would go into effect next week. Supt. Wright of the plant was asked about the readjustment. He said he knew nothing about the future of the hosiery and stated that nothing definite would be learned until the treasurer of the mill, Dr. James H. Sparks, would return from New York.

Tremont &amp; Suffolk Hosiery

"There is nothing new here," said Agent Rawlinson of the Tremont & Suffolk mills, this morning. "We are still operating with a very small portion of the help and cannot say what the future will bring about. Of course the hosiery is only a small portion of our mill, but there has been no talk of a wage readjustment."

The judge, in his black silk robe, and the juryman craned their necks to get a view of the animal. The center of so much attention Sport retired modestly behind his master's back and stayed there. He left the court tugging at his leash, with evident eagerness to be gone.

While Sport actually got before the jury in person, his rival in Melrose dogdom, Pat, was only represented by a photograph that was presented for the consideration of the jury. By ruling in the court, Sport's owner is to be permitted to attempt to establish the dog's reputation as having a kindly disposition.

It was a difference of opinion between Sport and Pat, eventuating in open warfare, that led to the alleged injury of Miss Knapp.

The jury in the case of Richard Brabrook Walsh against Susie and plaintiff, Catherine J. McShea, was subjected to undue influence at the time, shortly before her death, when she transferred bank accounts of about $2700 to the defendants. The jury found that Miss McShea was not of unsound mind at the

AMERICA PAPACY'S HOPE

Many Sources of Vatican's Income Cut Off as Result of War—K. of C. to Help

ROME, Oct. 21.—As a result of the war, the chief sources of the Vatican's income, represented by Bavaria, Austria, Belgium and France, became so impoverished that Pope Benedict was obliged to appeal to Spain, Latin America and the United States, declares the Giornale d'Italia in an article under the caption of "America the papacy's hope."

The newspaper adds that when Monsignor Bonaventura Cerretti, under secretary of state at the Vatican, went to America to attend the golden jubilee of Cardinal Gibbons, a report was circulated that he had gone with the object of negotiating a loan of $1,000,000 for the Holy See. In reality, however, his object was to collect $1,000,000 from American Catholics.

Monsignor Cerretti, the newspaper declares, appealed to the Knights of Columbus. The delegation of Knights which recently came to Rome, is said to have offered Pope Benedict $250,000, promising the remainder, which, perhaps, might even exceed $1,000,000. "Benedict," says the Journal, "the Knights gave the pope to understand that if grave troubles should arise in Italy, he could find protection and hospitality in America. After Rome was occupied by Italian troops in 1870, a French vessel awaited the orders of Pope Pius for a year at Civita Vecchia and the Knights said that in the event of a new crisis, an American ship would take a similar position."

Announcement is made that the "save-the-children" fund started by Pope Benedict for the relief of suffering children in central Europe has grown to 15,000,000 lire. In the list of subscribers to be published, the diocese of Lima, Philippine Islands, is shown to have given 150,000 lire.

CROPS PRODUCED BY HIGH SCHOOL BOYS

(Special to The Sun)

STATE HOUSE, Boston, Oct. 22.—Farm crops valued at more than $600,000 were produced by high school boys placed on farms throughout the state during the summer months this year, according to a report just made public by the state department of agriculture. The work, undertaken in 1917 with private subscriptions, and officially in 1918, to assist farmers in meeting the urgent demand for increased crops during the war, has proved so successful, in the opinion of the state officials in charge, that it has been continued since that time and it is understood it will be made a permanent activity in the department of agriculture.

That the idea of placing high school boys on the farm during vacation and other periods of the year, while yet in its infancy, contains unimagined possibilities, is the assertion made by Stephen H. Dow, supervisor of the boys' farm placement bureau, in the department of agriculture. Expansion of the work promises, in his judgment, to supply the farmers of the state with badly needed farm labor and to redeem thousands of acres of unworked farms.

The report submitted by Supervisor Dow indicates that 707 boys were placed on farms during the vacation period recently ended. Their earnings amounted to $140,000, and the value of the crops which they produced to $600,000. More than 90 per cent of the boys worked all of the vacation period and proved satisfactory to their employers. A great many of the boys are "veterans," having spent their vacations on the same farms.

In 1918, according to the report, 2500 boys worked on the farms during their vacation period. They earned $500,000 in wages and added $2,000,000 to the value of the crops. Twenty-two farm camps were operated, containing 1600 boys, and 1200 boys boarded with individual farmers.

In 1919 the appropriation made by the legislature was not granted until July 24 of that year, which was too late to allow of the season's work being planned, so that practically nothing was done that year.

This year the legislature appropriated $7500 and made the money available for use in proper season. The bureau operated four farm camps, taking care of 215 boys, six in towns in the extreme western portion of the state. The total expenses of the four camps for the entire season amounted to $12,325.60, and the net earnings of the boys, after payment of the camp expenses, amounted to $23,574.55. Nearly 500 boys boarded with individual farmers. The total earnings of the boys amounted to $140,000, and the value of the crops to $600,000.

The bureau has recommended that next year $10,000 should be made available, in order that the work may be further developed. Strong endorsements of the work by the late Henry B. Endicott, who was the food administrator for the state during the war; James J. Stewart, Dr. Jayson Smith, commissioner of education, and other prominent citizens who have been attracted by the work, appear in the report of Supervisor Dow, head of the placement bureau.

DELIVERED ADDRESS ON CITIZENSHIP

Before an audience of the Lowell Business Women's club in Kilton hall in the Y. W. C. A. between 3 and 6 o'clock yesterday afternoon, Congressman John Jacob Rogers gave an instructive address on "Citizenship." Topics taken up in his talk were an explanation of the electoral system, instruction in the marking and filing of ballots, the importance of the women affiliating themselves with one of the two great parties, and an explanation of the processes in the election of a president. There were about 300 women present.

The congressman was very enthusiastically received and the reports made by the officers of the club were that the talk proved very interesting and cleared up many of the difficulties with which the women were confronted in the matter of voting.

In speaking of the two parties, Mr. Rogers said: "It is of the utmost importance that the women affiliate with either one of the two parties."

"I do not mean by that," he continued, "that women or men should vote the straight ticket on either side. That is something I don't do myself for I vote according to the respective qualities of the candidates." Mr. Rogers then went on to tell of the good and evil of party politics, how one party acts as a check on another and how in European politics is split up into small factions and groups, thus leading to intrigue and disorder.

Miss Alberta MacQuisten is president and Miss Ida Woodbury, vice president of the Business Women's club.

normal mean temperature for Oct. 21 is 51.
The warm weather extends as far west as St. Paul, Des Moines and Kansas City. The nearest real fall weather to us yesterday was in Utah, where the temperature was 25 in some places. To the northeast of us is quite a large area of low pressure, which will cause the freshening west wind that may be expected tonight.

ROME, Oct. 22.—Injuries inflicted upon King Alexander of Greece by a monkey, were the result of a plot to assassinate him, according to Dr. Georges Fernand Vidal of Paris, who has been attending the king and was interviewed by the Messagero while passing through Rome on his way home from Athens.

"While the story of the monkey biting King Alexander was true," Dr. Vidal is quoted as saying, "the monkey was suffering from rabies with which it had been artificially inoculated. Hence, a veritable attempt against the king's life was committed."

WARMEST OCT. 21 IN 48 YEARS

BOSTON, Oct. 22.—Yesterday was the warmest Oct. 21 in the past 48 years, which is as far back as records of daily temperatures have been kept. At 2 o'clock yesterday afternoon the mercury "stepped on the gas" and hit 52, thus breaking the previous record for hot weather on Oct. 21 by nine degrees, the previous record for this date being 43, on Oct. 21, 1892.

And according to the weather bureau, today will be just about as warm.

Not only was a record established yesterday for high temperature on this date, but the mean temperature was 19 degrees above normal. The mean temperature for yesterday was 10. The

AMUSEMENT NOTES

By Theatres' Own Press Agents

OPERA HOUSE
Lovers of good, clean, wholesome comedy drama must miss seeing "The Cave Girl" which is being presented this week by the Lowell players at the Opera House. It's a delightful mixture of good humor and characterization that contribute to two hours of solid enjoyment. Miss Margaret Fildes is most entertaining as the primitive girl of the Maine woods, and the others of the cast are found in congenial roles. Order your tickets early and avoid possible disappointment. Next week "The Spider," a gripping society melodrama will be given. The piece will offer the members of the company ample opportunity to again indicate very forcibly their attainments in high dramatic passages and situations.

THE STRAND

"Absolutely the most artistic motion picture ever filmed" is the consensus of opinion of critics concerning Mary Pickford's picturization of "Sue Barton" which is being presented last part of the week at the Strand. America's sweetheart is seen in an entirely different kind of a role than those hitherto interpreted by her. And she does it with all of the grace that is hers. William Desmond in "A Broadway Cowboy" is a delightful comedy.

Douglas MacLean and Doris May, the popular comedy stars, score another big hit in "The Jailbird," their latest starring vehicle, now being shown at the Merrimack Square theatre. Mr. MacLean has the role of a cheerful, honest crook whose efforts to victimize a community fall when he is unexpectedly enriched by an oil gusher. The humor of the production is quite effective and there are dramatic moments of exceptional strength. Mrs. May heads a competent supporting cast. The other feature of the current program is "Half a Chance," a dramatic production of the International News, a comedy by Burton Holmes travel picture and literature Digest round out the bill.

"A Dramatic Cartoon," which Miss Norton novelized and which is being shown at the B. F. Keith theatre, is a comedy by George Coups and W. C. Plante. Other features are three stories by students, a verse by Josephine V. Dudley, and a play by Josephine V. Dudley. The exchange society and alumni columns are particularly interesting while the sport pages give an accurate account of the football games of this season. The present staff is as follows: Richard Chase, editor-in-chief; J. Donald Adams and J. Francis Byrne, business managers; Shirley Harris and William H. McCann, literary editors; Estelle K. ## TUBERCULOSIS IN GREECE

More Prevalent There Than
in Any Other European Country Except Serbia

ATHENS, Oct. 22.—Tuberculosis is more prevalent in Greece than in any other European country for which reliable figures are available, with the possible exception of Serbia. There is no governmental or private program for the control of the disease. The number of physicians in proportion to the population is one to every 1300.

In the city of Athens the death rate from tuberculosis of the lungs is 204 per 100,000 of population, which is about twice as high as the rate in the United States. The other forms of the disease also are present, making the total tuberculosis death rate 355 per 100,000 of population. The death rate in every six is due to tuberculous.

To deal with the disease the existing agencies are inadequate. There is little or no hospital provision for the care of the bulk of the population of 5,000,000. There are less than a score of general hospitals in the country. There is also an alarming prevalence of typhoid fever, which at times rises to the proportion of an epidemic. Even in the larger cities such as Athens the typhoid death rate is strikingly high. In the last three-year period for which statistics are available the rate was 50 per 100,000 of population, about five times as high as the rate in the United States.

The prevalence of this disease is due largely to the absence of sewers and of inadequate and safe water supply. No improvements in the water supply or sewerage systems have been made since 1905. The rudimentary sewage system, where any exists, affords little or no protection against surface or underground contamination of water supply, and no safeguard against conveyance of infection.

In Athens plans have been drawn by the national government to provide the city with adequate and modern water and sewer systems. But the execution of these plans has been delayed by the war. The water supply in Athens is at present brought in through an aqueduct built by the Emperor Hadrian nearly 2000 years ago. In the summer months the water is insufficient to carry off the sewage.

SAYS HE PAID $25,000 TO CALL OFF STRIKE

NEW YORK, Oct. 22.—Testimony taken at yesterday's hearings of the legislative committee investigating "the building trust" relative to the payment of $25,000 by Ephraim B. Levy, real estate owner and builder, to have a strike settled on one of his building projects, will be submitted to the "proper prosecuting authorities for immediate action."

This announcement was made last night by Senator Lockwood, chairman of the committee, at the close of the afternoon session. Mr. Levy, in testifying before the committee, declared he had paid the $25,000 to his associate in the construction work, George Backer, one of the largest building contractors in New York, who said he "wanted to pay it to Mr. Brindell and I think the committee."

The Mr. Brindell referred to, evidence divulged, was Robert Brindell, president of the Building Trades' Council of New York City and one of the highest paid labor leaders in the country. Mr. Backer, however, upon the witness stand denied he had paid the money to Brindell, but declared he had paid it to "two strangers," whom he believed to be walking delegates.

He said the money was paid in two installments—$15,000 at one time and the remainder a few days later—and the strike had been called off. Both transactions took place in the lobby of the Hotel Chatham, last May.

While admitting that Brindell was a friend of his, Mr. Backer declared the labor leader had had no part in the $25,000 transaction and that his name had not been brought into the deal.

John O'Connor, counsel for Mr. Brindell, appeared before the committee and protested against the testimony given by Mr. Levy. He asked that the hearing be adjourned "until Mr. Brindell can come here." His objection was overruled, but he was informed that the labor leader would be given an opportunity to appear before the committee early tomorrow to defend himself.

Mr. O'Connor later issued a statement declaring: "I do not think any of the testimony is dangerous enough to need a denial. If we should decide to appear here we will be here tomorrow.

Mr. Levy's disclosure came at the opening of the afternoon session when he said he had made similar statements at the attorney general's office several days ago.

The witness said the building under construction involved several million dollars and when the strike was called, although he was "paying union wages and keeping union hours," he was anxious to get the men back to work. He said that when Mr. Backer informed him that he might be able to arrange it to get the men to work, he produced the money.

Two checks, one for $15,000 and another for $10,000, drawn by Mr. Levy from the bank, were offered in evidence.

operations would be held up by his testimony.

"I cannot answer that," replied Mr. Levy.

Mr. Backer declared he was associated with Mr. Levy in completing the building and was interested in ending the strike.

"And you will admit that you got $25,000 in bills," asked Mr. Undermyer.

"I got it," Mr. Backer replied. "The first $15,000 in thousand-dollar bills and the other in smaller and dirtier money."

When asked as to his disposal of the first $15,000, Mr. Backer testified he had taken it to the race track and lost it, but later the witness admitted that he had given it to "two strangers" in the lobby of the Chatham Hotel in New York, with whom he had been negotiating for several days to have the strike called off.

Under cross-examination Backer declared he did not know the names of the "strangers" to whom he had paid the money, and he didn't care to know them. They might have been a "couple of burglars or may be worse than that," he said.

SOCIAL AND DANCE
The social and dance conducted in the Associate hall last evening for the benefit of the Lakeview chapel fund was a success in every way. The attendance was large, the decorations lovely and the program was elaborate and proved very enjoyable. During intermission refreshments were served. Those responsible for the success of the affair were: John J. Flannery, general manager; Paul McLaughlin, assistant general manager; John F. Golden, floor marshal; John C. McQuade, assistant floor marshal; Miss Elizabeth Sheehy, secretary; Rev. Michael Gilbride, pastor of St. Mary's church, Collinsville, treasurer.

HALLOWEEN PARTY
The young ladies of Mrs. Riley's class of the Collinsville mission conducted a successful Halloween party in the church vestry Wednesday evening. In the course of the evening games were played and luncheon was served, the good things being supplied by Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Clement and Mrs. Emma Parker. The success of the evening was due to the efforts of Mrs. Riley, Misses Hazel Wiggins, Vivian Deane, Nellie Gordon, Marie Sheehan, Mary Gondek and Dorothy Rodden.

THE LEAGUE OF CATHOLIC WOMEN
The Margaret Brent civic class of the League of Catholic Women, Miss Mary Lane, chairman, listened to a most interesting and instructive description of the democratic national convention at San Francisco this year, by Joseph H. Donohue, one of the delegates from this district, at the regular semi-monthly meeting of the class late yesterday afternoon at the league office in Central street.

Mr. Donohue described in detail the duties of the delegates which are much greater, he said, than the ordinary person realizes. At many of the sessions the delegates had to remain in the great auditorium where the convention was held from 10 o'clock in the morning until well into the evening.

The next meeting of the class on Thursday afternoon, Nov. 4, will be addressed by John V. Donoghue, who will speak on "The Responsibilities of Women As They Pertain to the 13th Amendment." The class will meet twice a month during the fall and winter and plans have been made to have the members study national, state and municipal problems.

Difficult to Keep Your Hair Wavy? Read This

If you have not yet tried the new way, the silmerine way, by all means do so. You'll never again use the tedious heated iron. The curliness will appear so perfectly natural and the hair will be so beautifully lustrous. Instead of dried and parched, this liquid silmerine serves also as a beneficial dressing for the hair. It is neither sticky nor greasy, but quite pleasant to use. It should be applied with a clean tooth brush before putting up the hair, drawing the brush through the hair from root to tip. The hair will have the loveliest curls and waves inachabably in three hours, and it will be easy to manage, no matter how you do it. A few ounces of the liquid from your drug-gist will last a long time.—Adv.

CHARTER AUXILIARIES

Judging from the expression of opinion at a meeting in the Highlands Wednesday evening, there is a sentiment in that district in favor of a re-called good government association. Such bodies, as a rule, represent the entire city rather than any particular district.

There is need of better fire service in the Highlands and that must be met without any undue delay. The water pressure is so low that the delay in locating a firehouse there is quite hazardous.

If the people of the Highlands feel that an association of citizens can hasten public improvements such as fire service, they should lose no time in getting it together; but as for a "Highland Good Government Association," such an organization would be a misnomer. If there is to be a good government association, it should represent the entire city; but to be candid, we do not believe in the efficacy of such associations. What is the chamber of commerce but a good government association with functions extended to other activities?

FRENCH MERCHANT MARINE

France has made rapid progress toward rehabilitating her merchant marine. According to a recent official report, the total tonnage of the French merchant ships on December 31, 1919, was 2,460,556 tons or practically the same as before the war. To this must be added the tonnage of German ships now under the French flag and eventually to be allotted to various shipping companies. On January 1 of the present year, the government had given orders for 513,119 tons of ships and since then purchased 30,600 tons from other sources.

The United States merchant marine represents a tonnage made up of all classes of merchant ships, of 11,333,203 exclusive of the 3,657,423 deadweight tons to be turned out this year.

WILL CONSULT WOMEN

Governor Cox told the social workers who recently conferred with him in Dayton that in the event of his election to the presidency, he will, as soon as possible, call a conference in Washington, of women interested in questions pertaining to the welfare of women and children.

"I shall seek the point of view of women who are striving to improve conditions in industry, who believe in the rights of little children, mothers' pensions, public health safeguards and better chances for education.

"I promise the women of America to serve diligently to stamp out disease, oppression, ignorance, and neglect. The democratic platform urges co-operative federal assistance to the states for the removal of illiteracy, and having had my first education in a 'little red schoolhouse' I propose to raise that country school to higher standards along with better pay for teachers, both men and women.

In some quarters, the far too common error that good government finally resolves itself into a matter of men, regardless of charters, prevails. Good men with a bad charter can give good service only by ignoring the charter; but weak or incompetent men under a bad charter make a combination that cannot fail to result in the very worst kind of city government.

For some years past, Lowell has had inefficient municipal government, more as a result of a defective charter than incompetent men.

It is time this obstacle to good government was swept away. The charter commission now working upon the problem has rendered a vast service to the city in clearing away the fog of conflicting rumors and distorted systems and giving the city a charter, simple, plain and direct, but based upon the solid principles that have stood the test of time and that afford the necessary safeguards and the checks and balances which are essential to the efficient operation of the government under the present charter.

We have confidence that the charter commission will solve the problem in a manner that will result in its own work and the far-reaching progress and benefit of our city.

For this purpose all pettiness must be put aside and a charter evolved that will serve equally all the people and every district in our city without favor or discrimination.

THE RIVER NAVIGABLE

Lowell is supremely interested in the project to open up the Merrimack river as a freight transportation route from Pawtucket falls to the sea. The plan is one that promises to profoundly affect the cost of doing business for manufacturers and merchants. Its benefits would accrue to the whole population.

The city's future prosperity and progress are intimately bound up with the plan to add to the available water power of the mills by the construction of storage basins along the upper reaches of the Merrimack. United States army engineers have investigated and approved of such a project.

Lowell is one of the oldest industrial cities in the country. It ranks well up toward the top of the list of the most important of its class. Yet congress, in making up its appropriations for public improvements, has passed the city by. Representatives of cross-roads districts from other parts of the country have been able to secure liberal provision for the deepening of creeks that are located with difficulty on the map. Great ventures in the way of irrigation projects have been fostered by the national congress.

Lowell and other cities of the Merrimack valley are entitled to more consideration than they have received; and the best method of securing due recognition is to elect men who will fight the issue to a finish and give us a navigable river from Lowell to the sea without having to wait for the until every other project of the kind in the country has been completed.

The present is a good time to have a clear understanding on such matters and to elect men who will fight for local interests and particularly the scheme already favorably reported of making the Merrimack river navigable.

ORDER IN MEXICO

"It is safe to say," writes a banker in Mexico City, "that at no time since 1916 have political conditions been so satisfactory in Mexico."

Banking is a term eliminated under the new administration. Commercial activity has been given a new and needed impetus by the lack of political wrangling which, in the last decade, had so often to the detriment of the country.

Mexico is, according to Dr. E. J. Dillon, a real victory, now in Mexico, to inaugurate an era of industrial reconstruction. "A vast change has come over the people."

"The financial condition of Mexico is markedly better," declares H. C.

SEEN AND HEARD

Cabbages drop and there's hope for the five-cent cigar.

Fifty years ago Germany was collecting from France.

If Carpenter wants some more bouts over the prize, the promoters might put him up at the Lamb's club.

Pays to Be Stout

Most parents probably regard their daughters as worth their weight in gold, but a Scotch banker estimated his two daughters' value at even a higher rate than this, bequeathing to each her weight in 5-pound bank notes. The elder seems to have been slimmer than her sister, for she got the equivalent of $256,000, while the younger received $286,770.—Boston Globe Old Times.

Week-End Allowance

In some of the earnest schools there are penny savings banks for children. Not long ago on Friday morning a youth walked up to the desk with an important air and withdrew three cents from his account. Monday morning, however, he promptly returned the money.

"So you didn't spend your three cents, Francis," remarked the young woman in charge.

"O, no," he replied, "but a fellow just likes to have a little cash on hand over Saturday and Sunday."—Detroit Free Press.

Talked Like a Tailor

The members of the choir were practicing the well-known anthem "The Hail, Hail, Hail, After the Water Broods." The rendering of the open stages was apparently not quite to the satisfaction of the gentleman who wielded the baton. He considered it necessary, therefore, to tender some advice to the tenors, and caused great consternation and not a little embarrassment among the little ducks by the following announcement: "Gentlemen, your expression is simply splendid, but the time is very poor—really, your parts are far too long.—London Ideas.

Still a Usur

When man grows cocky and boasts of his conquest of nature, he forgets that he doesn't know what matter, time, life, electricity, gravity, light and heat are. He is at a loss when it comes to defining any of the forces or other properties of the universe. He may observe, he may learn the laws governing the manifestations of nature, he may formulate theories, but he seems to have a more intimate acquaintance with his environment has been denied him. The race has been placed in a nursery, the confines of which it can never see; it has been given toys which it cannot play with skillfully, far less does it understand them, there is the playground to explore, there are new worlds awaiting discovery, there are old ones to be known.—Man still is lying on his back before the fire, sucking his thumb and kicking up his heels; he hasn't learned to walk. But at that, he is a promising child!

Maybe This'll Happen—

The judge was on the bench. The jury in the box. The prosecutor was a versatile old fox. He made a speech replete with fancy and figures. A verbal pot-pourri. Of fables and facts. He gave them the facts. Hyperbole and dose. Until the prisoner thought he'd surely stretch a rope. He was about to start. And make a guilty plea. And ask for mercy to escape the gallows tree. When his attorney rose. To judge and jury bowed. Then struck two fingers in his mouth and whistled loud. He raised his left knee high and gave a little jig. The dumb show then began. Some blades of grass to pick. And when he waved his arms. And bowed and said, "Thank you." The jurors all laid back. And laughed a loud ha ha. They never left their seats. But praised the lawyer's plea. They took a vote right there. And set his client free. They seen their duty and they done it to a man. For every fellow was. A loyal baseball fan.

MAN ABOUT TOWN

Although Manchester high school's football team succeeded in defeating Lowell last Saturday afternoon, 7 to 0, the victory was not of a nature to please the Manchester sport followers to any great extent, judging from sporting writers of the New Hampshire. Evidently, they were disappointed because the Granite Staters did not roll up a much higher score against Coach Conway's men. One writer in a Manchester paper says: "Manchester was away off form and the exhibition displayed was indeed a sorry one. Pussies came along one by one, and Manchester's strength in the overall game failed to make itself evident. In fact, on several occasions the ball was thrown directly into the hands of some waiting Lowellite or to some part of the field where players of neither side were present. Manchester usually turns out one of the best high school eleven in the east and the Lowell outfit is to be commended for the excellent showing made against it so early in the season.

I suppose there is hardly a mill in Lowell that does not have an engine with the Corliss type of valve gear. Perhaps some readers may therefore be interested in reading something about Mr. Corliss. His home was in Providence, R. I., where he built up his engine building plant. Mr. Corliss journeyed to Lowell in 1847, where his larger engines were set up and doubtless there are old residents of Lowell who may remember seeing him. My remembrance of him is that of a rather quiet, self-contained, old man, with bowed shoulders and graying hair. He usually wore a long black frock coat that showed signs of age and wear. He had the reputation of being the best skilled man in his native city. The principal reason for this probably was that he had pronounced and original ideas, and he was not particularly tactful in his dealings with his fellow citizens. He was unquestionably a mechanical genius. When the city water works were built, a small Worthington pump, of the type that has been used in this city for years, was installed. This was soon outgrown, and a vast sum was expended in purchasing the city with a massive pump designed on the pattern of these used in the Cornish mines. On one end of a walking beam was a weight of several tons that was lifted by the steam in the cylinder at the other end of the beam. When the weight fell, it lifted the other end, which in turn lifted the fall of the weight forced the water up into a reservoir. When the pump had played an ungodly game, Mr. Corliss was called in to design a pump that proved almost a marvel for economy at the time. There was no state of Mr. Corliss' mind when he was at that great inventors are never so remembered.

The waves of many English fishermen kept a black cat in the house to assure their passengers safety at sea.

COX AT BALTIMORE, MD.

Assails Harding's Stand, Says Nominee Has Shifted Position 14 Times

BALTIMORE, Md., Oct. 22.—Governor Cox, in addressing a large audience at the armory here last night, pounded upon and lashed vigorously the League of Nations speeches of Senator Harding, former President Taft and Senator Johnson of California, declaring that they evinced further "wobbling" by Senator Harding upon the league issue.

At the same time the democratic presidential candidate further emphasized his league policies, declaring that "helpful" reservations should be a prerequisite to ratification.

"Everyone who is against the league is against me," Governor Cox declared, assailing that Senator Harding, his republican adversary, stands for "wobbling" the league. He also asserted that because of league differences between powerful republican groups the election of Senator Harding could not bring ratification.

"It is this League of Nations or no League of Nations" was another doctrine laid down by the democratic nominee, speaking from the platform where President Wilson was nominated eight years ago. The governor asserted, quoting Judge Taft, that a new peace association of nations was impossible.

Harding's league pronouncements by Senator Harding, Mr. Taft and Senator Johnson, Governor Cox said that Judge Taft expressed confidence that Senator Harding would cause ratification, and that Senator Johnson expressed equal assurance that Mr. Harding would reject the league.

"Either Johnson or Taft is wrong," the governor declared, "and only Senator Harding can tell the American people which one is wrong. If Senator Harding has not given a private assurance to both men, then his declarations are so ambiguous that Taft interprets them one way and Johnson another. It is the duty of Senator Harding to advise the American people frankly who is right—Johnson or Taft. If he fails to do it he may be regarded as an impostor, deliberately seeking to deceive the American people."

Harding and Lodge

The league here and also at Wilmington, Del., where the governor made his only other address yesterday, virtually was his sole topic.

His Wilmington audience hissed the names of Senator Harding when he referred to the republican nominee's signature to the "great robber" and Senator Lodge of Massachusetts whom the governor characterized again as "the greatest conspirator in history." Large crowds at both Wilmington and Baltimore cheered the democratic campaign.

Referring to Wednesday's speech by Mr. Taft and Senator Johnson, Governor Cox told his audience last night that yesterday's papers carried a headline regarding the California senator's address as follows: "Cox's Harding Refuted League." That over Judge Taft, the governor said, "Harding's League League, says that 'Cox's Harding Refuted League' is a lie. They are men of independent mind and independent belief," and the governor said they are supporting Senator Harding because they know what he stands for. The League of Nations, he said, is a "great robber" and "a great conspirator" and that they are supporting Senator Harding because they know what he stands for.

Harding's 14th Flop

That Senator Harding, with his speech Wednesday, now had taken 14 different league positions, was asserted by Governor Cox, cataloguing 13 he had named previously. The senator Wednesday, his opponent declared, "now re-states his position as that of the day on which he accepted the nomination on the platform which said the league has signally failed."

"The answer to that," the governor continued, "is that there are already 14 nations members of the league, and that it is an organization now functioning."

Referring to Senator Harding's offer of a "reward" to anyone demonstrating that he had taken variant league positions, Governor Cox said he was present "to show how he has attempted to wiggle and wriggle his way into the presidency and to claim that reward not for myself but for the people of America." Senator Harding, the governor declared ironically, was complaining because he was misunderstood.

Declaring that the senator's latest league position was "a lie," Senator Johnson and that the California senator would be to reject the league, insisted that Mr. Harding stood against the league, the governor continued.

"This ought to define the issue in this campaign.

"Everyone who is against the League of Nations is against me. That is one thing about which there can be no doubt. A few days ago at Columbus I called the roll of the groups which had been arrayed under the reactionary banner and defined the prejudices which had been played upon in an attempt to divide the friends of peace.

"Among them we have a group of publicans, eminent men in their hearts and by their voice approve the League of Nations and who still try to justify their support for the candidate who reiterates the statement that the league has signally failed; and of whom Senator Johnson says: 'He is for outright rejection.'

What Cox Promises

"What would happen to the league should Senator Harding be elected? He is definitely against it. Therefore the mandate of the people in his election would be to reject the league. Senators Borah and Johnson have nothing in common with Mr. Taft and Mr. Root, nor could Mr. Taft be expected to exercise influence and leadership over the senatorial oligarchy which nominated and controlled Senator Harding.

"This group of senators is the same man for man, which helped to drive Judge Taft out of the presidency. Therefore, the election of Harding could under no circumstances and by no means assure or even promise ratification of the treaty and the league. I want to emphasize Judge Taft's own expression that a new association of nations is impossible and that of Maryland, who declared that it is this League of Nations or no League of Nations."

"There can be no doubt as to the day which has been the dream of all ages, the day of lasting peace." Senator Smith of Maryland and many other prominent democrats from Maryland and also Washington have repeatedly stated that it will be my intention to sit down immediately with the members of the United States senate; that I would accept reservations from any source whatever that were sincerely offered in friendship; that we would consult with President Wilson, with Judge Taft, with Elihu Root and others who are equipped to aid; and that face to face and man to man with our cards on the table, we would work out a result without partisan consideration which would permit America to take her place in the league of nations of the world and in the only association of nations designed to prevent war that is possible. It is this league with the local son.

BOSTON, Oct. 21.—Vincent Martin caused quite a surprise in the Coliseum A. C. house down in Quincy last night when he completely outdistanced Walter Brooks of New York in the foot race bout, when Martin stopped Brooks in the fourth round. Martin held the upper hand of the New Yorker from the opening going and last Brooks took the ropes in the fourth when he finally put over a regular K. O. wallop. The bout was fast and furious while it lasted, but at no time did the New Yorker have much of a chance against the local son.

MRS. CATT URGES WOMEN TO SUPPORT COX

NEW YORK, Oct. 22.—Mrs. Carrie Chapman Catt, America's most conspicuous suffrage leader and undoubtedly one of the most influential women in the United States, came out unequivocally yesterday for Governor Cox for president.

She made an urgent appeal, although not a democrat, that independent women support Governor Cox and the league.

Mrs. Catt's decision was announced in a letter to Professor Irving Fisher of the Pro-League Independents. She makes it clear that she earnestly desired to remain non-partisan in this campaign, and that only a conviction that through Senator Harding there could be no hope of entering the League of Nations in case of his election finally prompted her to declare for Governor Cox.

"I hold that there is but one course for those who believe in the league and its program and that is to vote for Cox," she says.

CHANCE TO BECOME A PUBLIC SPEAKER

An excellent opportunity for Lowell men and women to gain confidence as public speakers is afforded in the university extension class on this subject which has just been opened at the Kirk street primary school, with James G. Dow, Jr., of the Lowell Textile school faculty as instructor.

The class meets every Thursday evening at 7.30 and aims to enable its members to speak forcefully and clearly on their feet. There are no examinations nor test-books required and the registration fee is $1. Only constructive criticism of the work of the members of the class is given. At the present time there are eight men and seven women in the class and it as much as the state board of education requires that there be at least 20 members in any university extension class if it is to continue its existence, Mr. Dow is anxious to have five more members enrolled.

The course consists of 12 lessons, the first of which was given last evening. Persons interested may procure application blanks either from Mr. Dow at the Textile school or directly from the university extension department at the state house in Boston.

EXPEDITING WORK OF THE LAND COURT

In order to expedite the work of the land court of the commonwealth in deciding what, if any, interest the city of Lowell has in parcels of land which individuals wish to have registered, City Solicitor William D. Regan has sent a communication to all Lowell attorneys asking them when filing a petition of registration, that they also file a blue print of the plan of the land with the city engineer's office.

In the past, the city engineer has had to send a representative to the registry of deeds to make a blue print of the land from the copy on file there, and very often this has resulted in long delays owing to the inability of the engineer's office to look after the matter at once. Mr. Regan's letter follows:

Dear Sir: As you are aware, in all petitions to the land court of the commonwealth for the registration of land, the city of Lowell files an appearance, and if there is a street, way, public square, or building involved or invaded by the plan filed with the petition, the city of Lowell then files an answer.

To furnish the required information for determination by this department of the city's interest in the land proposed to be registered, it is necessary that the engineering department make a copy of the plan on file and check the same up with the description contained in the petition; and until this information is received by this department, it is impossible for me to execute a withdrawal of appearance. In order that the determination of the city's interest shall be facilitated and the allowance of the decree of registration hastened, I would suggest hereafter, in filing a petition of registration, that you file a blue print of the plan with the engineer's office of the city, said blue print to be a print of the tracing filed in the case. If this be done, I believe it will materially assist you in securing, so far as the city of Lowell is concerned, a speedy determination by the court. Sincerely yours,

WILLIAM D. REGAN,
City Solicitor.

HIGH PROOF MOONSHINE AT POLICE STATION

A dress suit case, checked recently at the baggage office in the Middlesex street depot by an unknown man, and which has since been found to contain high proof liquids, referred to by the police as "moonshine," is now awaiting identification at the police station.

Last night two men appeared at the baggage office for the case, claiming that the owner sent them for it. Officer Eddy happened along at this time and becoming suspicious, opened the case and found a one gallon jug marked "Edgar of Pensin." Upon analysis it was found to contain 50% alcohol; a bottle labeled "Hypophosphite," 93%; and another unlabeled bottle found to contain 108% alcohol.

BIG ULCER ALL HEALED

"Now I Can Walk," Says Mrs. Southcott of Medina

"Here is another letter that makes me happy," says Peterson, of Buffalo. "One that I would rather have than a thousand dollars."

"Money isn't everything in this world. There is many a big-hearted, rich man who would give all he has on earth to be able to produce a remedy with such mighty healing power as Peterson's Ointment, to sell at all druggists for 35 cents a large box."

Read this letter, written February 14, 1918, by Mrs. Albert Southcott, of Medina, N. Y. It seems like a miracle, but it is true, every word of it.

I know it because I get similar letters almost every day from people who have used my ointment for old sores, eczema and piles.

Is it any wonder I am happy! Peterson Ointment Co., Inc., Buffalo, N. Y.

Dear Sirs:—I was an untold sufferer from an old running sore and ulcers. I had tried most everything without any relief from pain. A friend told me of your wonderful ointment and the first box took away the pain that had not left me before in years, and after using just nine dollars' worth of the salve I am cured. The ulcer was 9 inches by 8 1/2 inches. It is all healed and I can walk. Never, never will I be without Peterson's again.

"You may use this to recommend your ointment. If you wish, I cannot say enough to praise it." Yours truly, Mrs. Albert Southcott, Medina, N. Y. Mail orders filled by Peterson Ointment Co., Inc., Buffalo, N. Y.—Adv.

speakers who had been expected to be present only two showed up.

No Applause For Coolidge

The audience showed an indisposition to become enthusiastic over points in the addresses that had been calculated by the speakers to evoke applause. Mention of Governor Coolidge's name in a way to bring forth a handclap was greeted with stony silence. Henry Cabot Lodge was given several good hands. Mention of democratic vice presidential candidate, Roosevelt, as a "little man with a big name" was followed by Senator McCormick with a wait for applause, for which he thanked the audience when it was tardily forthcoming.

A. L. Walsh was introduced by David Dickson, chairman of the republican city committee, to preside at the meeting.

When Senator McCormick, a tall, athletic-looking individual, stepped to the front for his address he proceeded to prepare for his forensic efforts by grasping the speaker's desk and giving it a forcible removal into the background.

"It is claimed by the democrats," said the speaker, "that their party is the special providence of the workingman. They would have us forget that in 1913 all over this land of our spindles were silent, mills were dark, furnaces were cold, forges were inoperative and day after day throngs of men sought for work that they could not find."

Disorder and Depression

"You find today disorder and depression all over the country. Unemployment is multiplying from the Atlantic to the Pacific."

"Long before the war was over every country in Europe began to prepare for the coming of the days of peace. Departments were established to carry on with as little friction as possible the demobilization of armor and industries. Plans were made to relax the iron hand of the government on the affairs of the people, and to reduce prices without undue injury to the business man. You would have thought there would have been a department at Washington to arrange for the demobilization of our industries. There was not. The administration failed utterly to provide for demobilization and reconstruction."

"Have you noticed the events of the last few weeks? Wherever I have gone over this country I have found the same thing—closing, industries, and apprehension everywhere. In Chicago tens of thousands of men are seeking work. Men who took up arms to defend their country, have been compelled to lay down their tools. Have we not learned that the democratic party is as inept to prepare for peace as it was to keep us out of war?"

Denounces Governor Cox

The speaker denounced Governor Cox for his alleged untruthfulness. Continuing he said: "Are you not ashamed of a man nominated as presidential candidate taking part in a campaign of vilification of the foremost citizen of the Bay state—Henry Cabot Lodge. Even his opponents in the senate would deny the charge that he has been a conspirator. Shameless shame! that in a controversy over the covenants, about which men disagree a man should put aside argument for abuse."

The speaker referred to Woodrow Wilson as "drunk with arrogance and power." He said that the republican party stands for a court of international law to which should be submitted such questions "as we are willing to arbitrate." He said that the nation would never consent to arbitrate questions relating to immigration. He asserted that the English and French texts of the League of Nations covenant were contradictory and that in a dispute the French text would govern.

Predicts Harding's Election

In closing the speaker predicted the election of Senator Harding, and said that one of his first acts after inauguration would be to summon congress to put aside the "covenant conceived in hate" and establish peace by setting up a court of international justice.

Mrs. William Lowell Putnam, of Boston preceded Senator McCormick as a speaker. She urged women to take a part in politics and deprecated the formation of a woman's party saying "let us work shoulder to shoulder with our men, especially in the republican party." She expressed the opinion that Senator Harding "wears well" as a candidate. She referred to a number of matters of legislation in which women should be interested, including maternity benefit laws, regulation of billboards and the unification of public health activities of the federal government under a secretary with a seat in the cabinet. In closing she said: "The Wilson League of Nations is dead." We can never get a league through the democratic party. Senator Harding is planning for one such as outlined by that great international lawyer—Elihu Root."

ELIHU ROOT REPLIES TO GOVERNOR COX

NEW YORK, Oct. 22—Elihu Root last night made public the following telegram to Governor Cox replying to his request to "correct" an alleged "false" statement in Mr. Root's New York address Tuesday regarding the governor's position upon the League of Nations:

"I have today received your telegram dated yesterday. I would not willingly do you injustice, and I do not think I have. You began your campaign by an interview with the president and an authoritative statement that you and he were in complete accord upon the League of Nations. I cannot be mistaken about his position. Throughout the long struggle in the senate he steadily refused to give his assent to any reservation which substantially changed the covenant as he brought it back. He certainly has not changed. His very recent utterance shows that if you have changed from that complete accord with him, I have not heard of it.

Publicly Pledged For Wilson Plan

"Such a change is not indicated by the vague and general expressions of your telegram saying that you will accept reservations that will clarify, that will be helpful, that will reassure the American people, that you would sit down with the members of the senate, that you would confer with Mr.

Wilson, Mr. Taft and myself, and all others who have a sincere purpose, etc., because you are the one who would determine what was helpful, what would reassure the American people, what advice you would follow, and you are solemnly pledged to an agreement with Mr. Wilson concerning the covenant he brought back from Europe.

"There is one statement of your telegram that does give a definite idea of where you stand upon what Mr. Wilson declares to be the heart of the league—the general alliance of Article 10, by which the United States would undertake to guarantee as against external aggression the territory and independence of every member of the league and to make that guarantee good, by war if necessary.

"You say in your telegram that you will accept reservations that will clearly state to our associates in the league that congress and congressmen has the right to declare war, and that our constitution sets up limits in legislation or treaty-making beyond which we cannot go.

"That it seems, is what you are willing to do about Article 10. Well, it is absolutely nothing. Everybody knows already that only congress has a right to declare war and that there are limits to legislation and treaty-making. Nothing by telling them of it again.

"The trouble about giving the guarantee provided in Article 10 is that the making of a treaty containing it is a solemn assurance to all the nations that it is within the treaty-making power, and that the promise to make war binds congress as fully as it binds all other members of our government to maintain the pledged faith of the United States.

"In all governments the power to declare war rests somewhere, and an agreement to make war is an agreement that that power shall be so exercised by the officers in whom it rests. A refusal by congress to pass the necessary resolution would simply be a breach of the treaty.

"Treaty Would Require Making War. "An analogous case is the power of congress to appropriate money. There is no other power in our government to do that; but, if the United States makes a treaty agreeing to pay $1,000,000 to another country, would anyone say that the obligation could be canceled by a refusal of congress to appropriate the money? Certainly not; the only effect would be that the United States would have broken faith.

"The real question is whether we shall enter into a guarantee under which the faith of treaties will require congress to pass a resolution declaring war. That is what the president proposed. That is what your telegram makes it clear you propose.

"On the same day when you sent the telegram, according to the press reports, in a meeting at Providence, one of your associates asked you 'Would you accept the League reservations to the League of Nations?' There was your opportunity. Among those reservations was one which said:

"The United States assumes no obligation to preserve the territorial integrity or political independence of any other country by the employment of its military or naval forces, etc., unless in any particular case the congress which under the constitution has the sole power to declare war, or to authorize the employment of the military or naval forces in the United States, shall in the exercise of full liberty of action by act or joint resolution so provide."

"That reservation would leave congress free whenever the time came to act in accordance with its judgment and conscience, and the judgment and conscience of the people, regarding the merits of the controversy at that time.

"Your position as you now state it would leave congress bound by the solemn pledge of faith of our country to pass the resolution for war, no matter what the merits of the controversy might be.

"Your answer is reported to have been, 'The League reservations never were seriously suggested. If they had been, Senator Lodge would have declared for them in republican platform adopted at Chicago.' And thus you side-stepped the question and you state in your telegram to me the perfectly futile thing you are willing to do upon the subject of Article 10.

"Your telegram to me undertakes to state your position with regard to say and what you refrain from saying in my speech that your position and promise are to impose upon the United States the covenant negotiated at Paris without any real change whatever."

NATION-WIDE SEARCH

Police Seek Wm. P. Brines
in Connection With Murder of Drewes

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 22.—A nation-wide search was instituted today for William P. Brines, the University of Pennsylvania freshman, for whom a warrant was issued yesterday, charging him with the murder of Elmer C. Drewes, the Dartmouth student slain here last Saturday night. The young men were said by the police to have been close friends.

The authorities declared they had "a large quantity of evidence directly pointing to Brines as being responsible for the death of Drewes."

One theory of the police is that he was killed in a dispute over the purchase of an automobile. Before leaving his home in West Philadelphia, last Saturday night, Drewes told his father he intended buying a second-hand motor car, and those working on the case said it has been learned that it was Brines' machine he planned to purchase.

A car found abandoned yesterday a mile from where Drewes' body was discovered, was identified as having belonged to Brines and is the one the Dartmouth student intended buying, according to the detectives. In the car, which was stained with blood, were found an automatic pistol with two cartridges missing and two empty bottles.

The police have been searching for Brines for several days. He lived with his mother, who is a widow, in West Philadelphia and their apartment has been closed since Sunday. He has not attended classes at the university since last week. Mrs. Brines was said to be in a local hospital suffering from nervous trouble.

WRECK BLOCKS TRAFFIC
IN SO. BOSTON STATION

BOSTON, Oct. 22.—The South Terminal station was partly cut off from traffic this morning, and hundreds of commuters were forced to walk over ties and across bridges from South Boston, by the derailment of three cars of the New York, New Haven & Hartford railroad near the center of the switching diamond in the yard outside the station.

The morning train to Cape Cod and a string of empty sleepers which was backing out, both moving in the same direction, side-swiped when they ran into a converging switch. The baggage and mail cars of the Cape train were thrown off the tracks, and one of the sleepers left the rails, blocking all the tracks to which the switch was the key. The cars were not much damaged, and no person was hurt.

A VITAL QUESTION

THERE'S a great deal of newspaper talk now about clothing prices - and it is a vital question to every man - vital to his purse - vital to his judgement - to know where to get full measure for every dollar he spends for his clothes - such knowledge is of infinite value to him!

Here's the Answer--

CHAIRMAN GARY TALKS

Declares Business Prospects
Unusually Bright, Both in
U. S. and Abroad

NEW YORK, Oct. 22.—Business prospects are unusually bright, both in the United States and abroad, Elbert H. Gary, chairman of the United States Steel corporation, declared in an address on "The Situation in France and Belgium," before the American Iron and Steel Institute here today. He returned recently from an extended tour of the devastated regions.

"Although this is a time for courage, composure and caution," he said, "the business skies are practically without clouds. As always, there may be shadows from time to time, but there is nothing in the atmosphere to indicate the approach of dangerous storms.

"If there should be a serious reaction and depression, which now seems improbable, it will be the fault of those who are connected with business operations or others who, by reason of office positions, improperly interfere, and not because of any fundamental disorganization in our resources and opportunities."

"When I refer to individual cases of lines of general business, I believe in many instances prices have been outrageously high. This observation applies more especially to millage, iron, steel, and to smaller departments of industry. It also includes employees in certain trades; but it does not pertain to the general conditions to the masses of workmen."

"The present tendency is toward a lower, more reasonable and fairer relative basis. The difficulty is found in the fact that every individual is perfectly willing that all others shall make reductions - the larger the better. Now a general public, including particularly those who are neither buyers nor sellers to any large extent, will in one way or another, bring about a fair and reasonable adjustment of prices. The law of supply and demand will be the principal factor.

"The people of the United States have reason for confidence in the business future. They need not be discouraged nor impatient."

"Steady recovery of industry in France and Belgium from the ravages of war was predicted by Mr. Gary. Rehabilitation was made possible, he said, by the spirit of the French and Belgian people - the 'good-natured, grim, persistent and splendid effort to succeed, to restore and to recover.'"

"I think France has one of the best administrations she has ever had," he continued. "The president is strong, successful, honest and has the confidence of everyone. The cabinet is made up of good men. We shall see great progress economically, financially and commercially during the next few years."

SEN. HARDING RETURNS TO MARION

MARION, Ohio, Oct. 22.—With his return to Marion today from his short campaign excursion into New York state, Senator Harding had before him four days of freedom from speech-making before beginning the swing around the circle of his own state that will wind up his campaign.

His front porch program is virtually at an end and the only speaking dates now definitely to be filled are the four next week in Cleveland, Akron, Cincinnati and Columbus.

Some of his friends are urging that he make an attempt to return to Marion between his Ohio trips, but devote the spare time to rear platform speeches.

CONDITIONS IN RUSSIA

Outside Business Men Too Optimistic Regarding Trade Prospects

LONDON, Oct. 22.—Business men outside Russia are prone to be over-optimistic regarding immediate trade prospects in that country, according to a statement made to the Associated Press correspondent who recently crossed Russia, by the only foreign business man who was then in Siberia for the purpose of developing trade relations with the Bolsheviks.

This man, Henrik Tornblom, a Swede, who represented American and Swedish concerns in Omsk, Siberia, for eight years previous to the Russian revolution, returned to Soviet Siberia during the past summer.

His plan was to arrange for the exchange of Swedish farm machinery for vast supplies of wool, flax and furs, which the Bolsheviks stated had been gathered for shipment at Omsk. Arriving in Omsk he found the amount of goods available for export far less low what he had expected, and that the goods available had been stored for years, many of the bales of hides having become worthless because of improper handling.

Ten thousand tons of raw material mainly wool and hides, available for export from all Siberia, was Mr. Tornblom's estimate after his investigation at Omsk.

"Raw materials must be the basis of foreign trade in Russia and Siberia," said Mr. Tornblom to the Associated Press correspondent, "but the stories sent broadcast through Europe and America of the vast supplies of raw material stored along the Trans-Siberian railway all ready to be shipped to foreign countries in return for manufactured goods are myths."

"War, revolution and the resulting chaos of the last three years has resulted in nearly all the products of the country being put to use by the military leaders who have overrun the country from time to time."

"Potentially, of course, Siberia remains one of the world's great sources for raw materials. For mineral wealth, for wool, flax, hides and valuable furs the country to the east of the Urals cannot be surpassed, but there is little to export at the present time."

"After normal conditions are restored in Russia and Siberia, foreign experts will need to spend much time and money reconstructing and developing commercial enterprises before Siberia's pre-war export figures again can be realized. Practically all of the great enterprises conducted by foreigners in Siberia before the revolution, mines, dairy enterprises and farm machinery concerns, practically have been destroyed. The work of rebuilding them will be a matter of years."

Because of the difficulties of railway transport in Russia, it was decided that the exchange of goods, principally wool, flax and furs, for Swedish farm machinery, is to be undertaken by the water route from Central Siberia. Raw materials gathered at Omsk have been loaded on river barges and shipped down the Irtysh and the Obi to the Kara Sea, where the goods will be transferred to ocean-going steamers, and taken to Sweden by way of the Arctic ocean.

MANY IRISH TRAIN CREWS DISCHARGED

DUBLIN, Oct. 22.—Refusal of Irish railwaymen to carry munitions of war which from time to time holds up trains for which soldiers or police are tendered as passengers has now led to the stoppage of passenger trains over nearly 500 miles of railway.

Every time a train crew refused to carry soldiers, police or munitions they were dismissed. There are now not enough men to keep the traffic moving and the service has had to be cut down accordingly. This has led to great inconvenience and traders are everywhere entering protests. An attempt has been made to relieve the situation by motor truck lines, which in many places are regulated by Sinn Féin order.

"Fat That Shows Soon Disappears"

Prominent fat that comes and stays where it is not needed is a burden, a hindrance to activity, and a curb upon pleasure. Many forms of advice to reduce weight have been advanced, such as dieting, hard work, excessive exercise, etc., all of which are either unpleasant or dangerous.

The latest, more modern and pleasant way to take off burdensome fat, is to take, after each meal and at bedtime, a Laxative Tablet. These tablets are as effective and harmless as the famous Laxative Prescription from which they take their name.

To get rid of fat at the rate of two, three or four pounds a week, simply take one of these little tablets after each meal and at bedtime until you have reduced your weight to where you want it. No wrinkles or blemishes will remain to show where the fat came off.

They are for sale by all druggists at $1 for a good size box. If you prefer to have them come to you direct by mail, prepaid, in plain sealed cover, send amount to The Laxative Co., 97 Garfield Building, Detroit, Mich., and bid goodbye to dieting, exercise and fat. Be yourself, slim, trim and attractive.

POLO NOTES

New Bedford, the pace setters, and Lowell, runners up, will clash at the local rink tonight and a red hot battle is in prospect.

The Whalers jumped right into the lead at the opening of the season and by launching a speedy attack have succeeded in maintaining the top rung ever since. All teams realize that the club must be kept in the lead in second place is looked upon as the logical team to start applying the brakes.

The Lowell players have rested up since last Tuesday night and all are reported in great condition for the big game.

Bill Duggan, Duke Duffresne, and Paul Gardner are doing the bulk of the work for the league leaders. They play a fine combination game and Jett and Wiley are improving with every game.

A few setbacks for New Bedford would greatly tighten up the pennant race.

HANDLED BETS ON SERIES

Chicago Broker Says He Placed Money for Boston Gambler

CHICAGO, Oct. 22.—In an interview published here today, Harry Long, employee of a brokerage firm belonging to the Chicago board of trade, says that he handled bets on the 1920 World Series for J. J. Sullivan of Boston. He says he placed $29,000 among various board of trade men at even money that Cincinnati would win the first two games.

Long also says that in the interview, that Sullivan wired other cities and obtained additional funds to bet on Cincinnati, when he found himself out of Chicago bets. Sullivan agreed him to bet on Cincinnati himself. Long says in his interview, but he did not take the advice. He says Sullivan first asked his employers to handle the bets, but they refused and Sullivan persuaded him to do it.

Reports that true bills would be returned by the Cook county grand jury against several men whose connection with the throwing of the series has been traced, were in circulation as the investigation was resumed today.

Among the witnesses called were three St. Louis men whose names were brought into the investigation through the inquiry at St. Louis last fall by Manager Kid Gleason of the White Sox, just after the series closed. Ban Johnson returned today from St. Louis and may go before the grand jury again, it was said.

Disappeared from St. Louis said that Johnson went to see Phil Ball, president of the St. Louis American league club, in connection with the reorganization of the national commission proposed by the eight National league clubs and three of the American league clubs, but it was said Mr. Ball was in the southwest.

ENGLISH BOXER TO MEET PHINNEY BOYLE

The first boxing show under the new law will be presented in this city next Thursday night, under the auspices of the Crescent A.A.

In arranging for the resumption of the glove game here, the club officials have matched up Phinney Boyle, the local lightweight and Freddie Jacks, of England, who has been in this country since shortly after the armistice was signed.

Jacks, while never having appeared in this city is well known among the fans, for he performed in the big all-star show at the Madison square garden, and was defeated by Lawrence by Johnny Cuddy. Jacks boxed Harry Kid Brown in the down river city that day, and while he lost the decision, he was a close contender.

Boyle has been training for several weeks and announced yesterday that he is ready to tackle Jacks or any other boy of his weight in this section. The other bouts on the card will be announced later.

BOXERS SUSPENDED

Britt and Johnson Given Lay-off by Boxing Commission—License of Hanover A.C. Revoked

BOSTON, Oct. 22.—The boxing license of Frankie Britt of New Bedford, holder at one time of the welterweight and lightweight championships of New England, was suspended yesterday for one month by the state boxing commission. The commission charged that Britt failed to keep an engagement at Fall River on Oct. 12.

John L. Johnson, heavyweight of this city, drew a two months' suspension for hitting Battling McCreary over the head with a chair at the end of their bout on Oct. 12. Johnson asserted that McCreary, who won the bout, had kicked him.

The commission also revoked the license of the Hanover A.C. and indefinitely suspended the licenses of all officers of the club. This action followed a public hearing at which several boxers who participated in bouts on Oct. 9 claimed that they were not paid for their services, alleging an aggregate of approximately $3000 was due them.

HARVARD-CENTRE GAME ATTRACTS INTEREST

CAMBRIDGE, Oct. 22.—The names of Centre college and Harvard university were on the lips of every football fan in this section of the country on this, the day before the "playing" of the game between the two colleges on the gridiron. No football game in recent years, excepting the annual contests with Yale and Princeton, has aroused the measure of interest manifested in the struggle forecast for tomorrow.

Harvard enthusiasts were heartened today when Coach Fisher gave out the word that Captain Harlow had recovered sufficiently from an injury to his side to start in the game. Three regulars—Keith Kane, and Tom Woods, guard, and "Hobbs" Harvey, center, also stepped out of the hospital and were slated to be in the lineup.

A ray of welcome awaited the team and its supporters from the Blue Grass state, with everyone anxious to see the eleven which has not been defeated in two seasons.

Great Interest in Game
NEW YORK, Oct. 22.—An international football game of more than normal interest features the gridiron schedule of Saturday in the meeting of Harvard university and Centre college of Danville, Ky.

Harvard eleven, who the unique position of facing from time to time the leading exponents of football from distant corners of the globe, have never before these games are played the regular crimson schedule, national interest rises to heights seldom reached in the regular college of gridiron season.

This was particularly true of the Michigan-Harvard game played at the Harvard stadium in 1914, and the Harvard-Oregon game at Pasadena, Cal., on the year's day.

Attention was first drawn to Centre college teams several seasons ago when reports of large and one-sided victories began to be published. Gradually the report spread that the eleven developed at this Presbyterian institution of less than 100 students located in the remotest institution of the midwest, some hundred miles from the nearest college, were not the result of freak or hazardous conditions, but were due to a carefully planned system of training.

Enrollment and eligibility requirements were on a par with those of the strictest institutions of the east, middle west and the Pacific coast. When the season of 1913 closed and it was seen that Centre had rolled up 100 victories, the college was against 23 for her nine opponents, and that two of the team were selected for the All-American eleven with a third placed among the substitutes of that year's eleven.

Followed all-star football in the northwest throughout the country began to take Centre college seriously. It was invited to arrange a game with Harvard and actually accepted the result that the entire southern, middle western and eastern sections of the United States are in a fever of football enthusiasm.

Early today the Centre college football squad, accompanied by more than 1000 fans, including the president of the college, members of the faculty and a number of local Kentucky business men, passed through this city en route to Boston. The team is in charge of Coach Fisher, who is also the head of the Centre college football squad. The team is in charge of Coach Fisher, who is also the head of the Centre college football squad.

The entire south is backing the eleven. Other college coaches and players have been coming to Centre to watch the training before the squad left Danville. Scores of special telegraph wires will carry every detail of the game to the New York and Boston newspaper player boards, clubs and other gathering places.

Nine of the eleven players who formed the regular team of last season and 12 variety letter men are in the squad, including Captain Alvin (Bo) McMillan, quarterback, and James Weaver, center, named for the 1919 All-American team more as the proud claim of Centre adherents than as opposing eleven ever stopped these two stars when scores were needed to win.

McMillan is a good, clean, powerful broken field runner, with "Red" Weaver and Fullback Jim Roberts as goal and field goal kickers extraordinary. The team is backed by a wonderful running and overhead attack, and the fact that in four games to date this season Centre has not lost a game, and has a record of 100 victories, indicates its scoring power. This in short is the remarkable football record of a veteran team, having from a small southern college with more than 100 years of proud scholastic history behind it, and a list of prominent graduates who would do credit to any university of the country.

What the "Coldens" as the Centre college team is nicknamed, will do against the powerful Harvard team cannot be told. Harvard has usually shown a remarkable defense, and a flashing, puzzling attack when the time was right to strike for a second.

Since the beginning of football at Harvard, in 1874, the university teams have played up to the Oregon game of last New Year's day, which was won 7 to 6, a total of 389 games. Of this number 327 were won; 51 lost and 11 tied. Since 1903 Harvard has been defeated but nine times by teams other than Yale or Princeton and tied, under the same conditions, but five times.

spiracy in All AgesGovernor Cox Introduced by Gov. Edwards as Man Who Makes Wobbler WobbleDeclares G. O. P. Candidate Greatest Asset Democrats Ever HadTRENTON, N. J., Oct. 22.—A one-day campaign in New Jersey was opened today by Governor Cox with a theatre meeting, at which he asked for a "mandate" of ballots to "overturn the greatest conspiracy in all the ages." This, he says, was against world peace, proposed under the League of Nations.The league, he said, was "as inspired by God as much as the Declaration of Independence itself."Like other recent audiences that have heard Governor Cox, his Trenton crowd today blessed the name of Senator Lodge of Massachusetts when the speaker repeated his charges of conspiracy by means of the "round robin."
Governor Cox was introduced by Governor Edwards as "the man who makes the wobbler wobble.""All we need in this state," said Governor Edwards, "is one more wobbler to make him over, for the republican candidate is the best and the greatest asset the democratic party ever had. If they don't claim him up, you'll never be able to count Governor Cox's majority in this state."

Await Move by Government

LONDON, Oct. 22. (By Associated

as a whole, awaited anxiously today for the government's next move in the deadlock over the coal miners' strike, following the strike ultimatum delivered by the railwaymen yesterday and an almost equally pointed threat from the transport workers.

the fact that it is intended only for absentee voters is plainly indicated.The local election commissioners have received 25 requests for such ballots from voters who will be out of town on election day. One request comes from far-off California and most of the others are from Lowell

Illinois Praises Lodge—
Not Much EnthusiasmThe hard-times issue was definitely launched into the campaign last night in Lowell by United States Senator Medill McCormick of Illinois. He said there is widespread apprehension, mills closing and growing unemployment all over the country and he blamed the democratic party responsible for conditions that he claimed exist.The speaker also assailed Governor Cox as "the man having as little regard for facts as any man who ever ran for the presidency," and denounced him for calling Henry Cabot Lodge—
"the foremost citizen of the Bay state"—an "arch conspirator."The rally was held in Odd Fellows to have been a feature of the rally was omitted.

of deputy sheriffs, policemen from Concord and residents of this town under command of Sheriff George A. Wooster of Merrimack county, searched the woods, others guarded possible avenues of escape. There were about 100 men in the searching party, many of them armed with shotguns and rifles.The escaped convicts were seen in the woods last night and shots were fired at them but they dodged out of sight apparently unharmed. Later they were refused food at two farm houses near the edge of the woods and then re-entered the forest. Guards then were posted to prevent their escape until the search was resumed at daylight.The first entry into the woods was made when the men's gasoline supply became exhausted and they abandoned an automobile that had been stolen from a Concord undertaker on Tuesday. In the car were some tools that were identified as having been stolen from a garage in East Jaffrey, near the Massachusetts line.The theory that the men were Stiv-ers and Bassett was strengthened by the fact that another automobile, in which was a robe taken from the car that had been stolen at Concord, was found near Henniker on Tuesday night, supposedly by them and bore a Connecticut number plate. The plate was stolen from the car of William McCabe of Derby, Conn., last Sunday by two men thought to be the escaped convicts who had held up McCabe and a companion.Sheriff George A. Wooster this morning marshaled a well armed force of 150 men and laid plans for a systematic beating of the woods in the town of Warner, where two fugitives from Sing Sing prison, George Stivers and Marcus Bassett, are believed to be hiding. It was said at 8.30 that nothing had been seen of the hunted men since they called about 8.30 Thursday night at the home of Carl Jewell in Warner.Says Taft, Root, Et Als

AT POLICE CONVENTION

Senator Walsh Addresses
Delegates — Lowell Man
on Executive Committee

FITCHBURG, Oct. 22.—In an address before 150 delegates of the 20th annual convention of the Massachusetts Police Association, yesterday, United States Senator David I. Walsh, expressed keen disappointment over the smallness of the recent increase in compensation granted to letter carriers, stating that while the cost of living had increased nearly 50 per cent, an increase of only 20 per cent had been given to postoffice employees.

For an hour and 20 minutes, the senator kept the attention of all those present, discussing the duties and compensation received of government employees, school teachers and police men, making a comparison with the present living conditions.

After an automobile tour about the city and surrounding towns, the delegates returned to headquarters and resumed the official business of the convention.

The election of officers for the ensuing year took place in the afternoon. Deputy Chief of Police Thomas McMurphy of Worcester, president, and Michael McGovern of Fall River, vice president, were re-elected, with Albert D. White of New Bedford, treasurer, and Charles McCarthy of Melrose as assistant-treasurer, as the new officers of the association.

The executive committee for the coming year will be composed of the following members: William F. Dinneen of North Adams, Edward F. Flanagan of Lowell, Thomas J. Godley of Fitchburg, Dr. C. H. Holbrook of Springfield, William H. Huffer of Lawrence, Inspector William of Lynn, John A. Smaghiessy of Newton, William P. Murphy, a member of the Metropolitan police, William Armistead of Woburn.

By a unanimous vote it was decided to hold the convention of 1921 in Fall River.

The two days session adjourned at 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon. A rising vote of thanks was given to the committee on arrangements, R. H. Flaherty, chairman, for the splendid reception and entertainment given during the convention.

COAKLEY CALLS ON IRISH TO SUPPORT COX

BOSTON, Oct. 22.—Daniel H. Coakley, the Boston attorney, who took a prominent part in the proceedings of the democratic convention, and who yesterday made a contribution of $500 to the democratic convention fund, issued the following statement last evening:

Attacks Coalition

"I see that Mr. Demarest Lloyd, prime minister of the Loyal Coalition, fires his pop-gun at the democratic candidate for president, Governor James M. Cox.

"This is not surprising, because as the prime minister says, the coalition is 'neither a publican nor a democrat.' Everyone knew that. It is British. If the Prime Minister Lloyd had not fired his pop-gun over my shoulder I would pay no attention to him.

"But he refers to me alone when he says, 'One of the spokesmen of the hyphen element proclaimed when starting for the national democratic convention that they are not interested in platforms or candidates, but only in Ireland.'"

"First—the fact that the prime minister misquotes me I waive. The misquotation is not surprising either, nor important.

"The element now flying the Union Jack from the ramparts of the Loyal Coalition are the same people who first put the hyphen into American politics when it served their purpose to make distinctions between American citizens who were of Jewish, Italian, French, Irish, German, Russian and Polish blood on the one hand and English on the other. Now they want to take the hyphen out to prevent the hyphen element from doing to the Harding-Coalition-Lloyd George outfit what it did to the Hindenburg line.

"The function of the hyphen is to connect, to unite, not to divide and separate. Let the hyphen element alone. Mr. Prime Minister. It saved the British hide once. You may need its help again.

"The hyphen looks good to me with the word 'American' at either end of it, for thus used it connects the superb fusion of alien bloods, which make up the great American race.

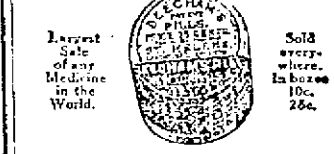

"As one of that race, I refuse to support Harding, who, in his brutal rejection of Ireland's appeal in her struggle to be free, is as stoutly supported by the loyal coalition as Lloyd George was backed yesterday by the British parliament in his determination to devastate and destroy my mother's homeland. Personally, I don't like a League of Nations, but there

LADIES' AUXILIARY HONORS PRESIDENT

Mrs. William H. Merritt, president of the 101st Ladies' auxiliary and one of its hardest workers since its organization, was last evening presented a valuable ring set with five pearls and a beautifully inscribed folder containing the names of the members of the auxiliary and its aims and purposes. The presentation took place at a banquet of members of the auxiliary held at the American Legion headquarters in Dutton Street.

The 101st auxiliary was originated in August, 1918, to help give members of the 101st regiment from this city some of the comforts of life while they were overseas. They also kept in touch with the soldiers upon their return to this country and have maintained a lively interest in their welfare even to the present time.

Last evening's banquet was the first which the organization has had for its own members and every detail of the program was flawlessly executed. In addition to members of the auxiliary, a large number of friends were present.

The banquet was served at 7.30 by Caterer M. A. Lydon and was most appetizing. Later Mrs. Merritt welcomed those present and then a program of entertainment was carried out. It included numbers by Jack McVale, Daniel P. Brennan, Miss Frances Tiche and Miss Mollie O'Sullivan. Miss Mollie O'Sullivan, secretary of the auxiliary, representing her father, James O'Sullivan, its organizer, then presented Mrs. Merritt the ring and scroll on behalf of the members of the organization and in appreciation of the services of their leaders. The folder was painted by the sisters of Notre Dame academy and inscribed by Mrs. Charles J. Molloy. Mrs. Merritt responded appreciatively and assured those present that her efforts would have been of little

YOU'LL GET RID OF BLACKHEADS SURE

There is one simple, safe and sure way that never fails to get rid of blackheads and that is to dissolve them.

To do this get two ounces of calcareous powder from any drug store—sprinkle a little on a hot wet sponge and rub over the blackheads briskly—wash the parts and you will be surprised how the blackheads have disappeared. The blackheads, little black spots, no matter where they are, disappear and disappear, leaving the parts without any mark whatever. The blackheads are simply a mixture of dirt and dirt and grease from the pores of the skin. The calcareous powder and the water simply dissolve the blackheads so they wash right out leaving the pores free and clean in their natural condition. Anyone troubled with these unsightly blemishes should certainly try this simple method.—Adv.

CHICAGO, Oct. 22.—W. Bourke Cockran, here to speak last night in favor of the League of Nations, replied to a statement issued by republican national headquarters asserting that he had switched from the stand he took before the senate foreign relations committee a year ago.

SUN PLAN APPEALS TO POLICE CHIEF

In regard to the suggestion made in the editorial columns of The Sun, that the local police department of every city and town should pass upon the character and fitness of every applicant for a license to drive an automobile, Supt. Welch of the local police department declared today that he was heartily in favor of the idea.

He stated that he was doing everything in his power to have reckless drivers and law violators expelled from the streets of Lowell but that it was impossible for the police officers to do all. He hailed the plan as one probable solution of eliminating drivers unfit for the highways.

"I'm ready to do all that I can to put such a plan through, but I'm afraid that it would be difficult of application."

GOV. COOLIDGE SPEAKS AT CHARLOTTE, N. C.

CHARLOTTE, N. C., Oct. 22.—America is synonymous with service, declared Governor Coolidge in an address here yesterday, in a series of allusions to the honor and dignity of work. He said he spoke of service in the spiritual as well as the material sense and continued: "That people will fall which devotes itself exclusively to the accumulation of wealth and which makes property the chief end of man. That people will become strong and vigorous whose work is measured by the ideals of right and justice and liberty."

"The republican party, he said, 'cherishes no delusions that any scheme of government or any change in the organization of society could relieve the people from the necessity of work. The rules of nature cannot be set aside. Observed they point the way to success and character.' Successful democracy, he said, can be achieved only at the price of 'constant effort.' It is a law to disregard which, he continued, 'is to invite destruction and anarchy' and to observe which is to 'develop power and government.'"

"The American people, the governor went on, have always exalted labor, whether of the head or mind. The old Europe, he said, sharply differentiated between its peoples and established their rank and social position by the kind of work performed. 'We shall have no such artificial standard here,' he said. 'To us the tiller of the soil and the skilled mechanic are measured by the same regard as are the doctor or lawyer or banker. We demand that each of us shall do his work and do it with all his skill and might and energy. And we can demand promptly in return that the conditions under which the work is done shall be fair and decent, with adequate reward for accomplishment.'"

"Touching on the alleged need of greater production which he described as 'the sure cure of profiteering,' he said:

"The world is never very far ahead of starvation; bitter experience has shown us the mere shade that exists between fuel and freezing. We who have the fields and the mines and who are blessed with order under law, have a supreme duty to ourselves and to humanity as a whole. That duty is to secure maximum output in agriculture and industry and in return to pay the reward to which such action is justly entitled. Production is a moral obligation as well as a material necessity. It is the sure cure of

WASHINGTON, Oct. 22.—America has taken no action to discourage Irish immigration, under Secretary of State Davis said yesterday. He was discussing the statement in the British parliament yesterday by Sir Hamar Greenwood, chief secretary for Ireland, that this country no longer welcomed immigration from Ireland because it did not desire to swell the total of disturbing elements in the United States.

"The Irish are about as good as any immigrants," Mr. Davis said.

DEVICES TO RESCUE ENTOMBED MINERS

CHARLESTON, W. Va., Oct. 22.—The West Virginia bureau of mines which is credited by experts with the best equipment in the country for rescuing entombed miners has just added to its outfit for that work three new pieces of apparatus—a geophone, a carbon monoxide detector and a brass encased thermometer.

The geophone is similar to a physician's stethoscope. As the stethoscope is used to detect irregularities in the human body by sound, so the geophone is used to detect earth sounds. In this way entombed miners can be located noting the direction from which the sound vibrations come.

The brass-encased thermometer records maximum and minimum temperatures whereby it can be ascertained when it is safe to enter mines sealed to smother fires. Hitherto, it has been a problem to know when to enter the shafts, but with the thermometer dropped through a hole in the barricade, this can be determined easily.

The carbon monoxide detector is considered the most important piece of apparatus from the point of protecting the lives of rescuers. The gas is detected by a color tube and a color scale on the instrument. Formerly, canary birds were used, but their use was not entirely satisfactory, as the birds often succumbed to other gases, while a color detector instrument shows no other gas than carbon monoxide present. One tenth of one percent of the gas is said to be fatal to a human being.

U. S. TO PROTECT DIPLOMATS' BAGGAGE

WASHINGTON, Oct. 22.—(By the Associated press) Secretary Colby said yesterday that the state department was determined to protect the baggage of the diplomatic representatives of foreign nations from search by customs officials. He declared that if necessary, the department would invoke the principle of international law, which he said was older than the constitution of the United States.

Mr. Colby would not say whether the department would have recourse to injunction proceedings, explaining that the manner of protecting the luggage of foreign envoys remained to be determined.

The state department issued a public appeal Saturday that government agents refrain from examining the baggage of diplomats, but it was stated at the treasury department that the orders to customs officials to make such examinations and report all violations of the prohibition law would not be changed.

NICK'S BUSY DAY

When everything was ready and it was time for the Meadow Grove folks to start to the picnic grounds under the willow tree beside Lily pond, Mr. Scribble Scratch sent Nick around with two turtles and his daddy to collect baskets.

Mr. Scribble Scratch sent Nick around with two turtles and his daddy to collect baskets. The willow tree beside Lily pond, Mr. Scribble Scratch, the fairman school-master, sent Nick around with two turtles and his daddy to collect baskets.

to make the day as happy as possible. Nick climbed trees in a twinkling, with his magical Green Shoes, and got the baskets belonging to Mrs. Chick Chirreer, Mrs. Owl, Mrs. Squirrel, Mrs. Bill Blackbird (who hadn't packed to go south yet), Mrs. Thousant-Legger and all the others. He was a wonder at it. He'd get a basket, climb down the tree, set it on the ground back, and go up after another. After he'd got all the baskets from Maple-Tree Flats, and Old-Oak Apartments, and all the other overhead dwellings, he knocked at Mrs. Woodchuck's door, and Mrs. Bunny's, Mrs. Mink's and all the others who lived underground. Mr. Tooty Turtle and his son, Tug, said they thought they'd start in the express business, they were so loaded down with baskets and baskets and things. When everything was collected, Nick remembered on ahead to help Nancy and left the turtles to take their own time which was an unwise thing to do, because you know how very unreliable turtles are. If I wished to send my marketing home for 12 o'clock lunch, I'd never depend upon a turtle, should you? But anyway, Nick went on ahead, because the Otters had told him they had a sliding board which the picnic-cars could use if they would put some slippers upon it. Nick knew where there was a lot of perfectly lovely mud and off he slid added to get some. (Copyright, 1920, N.E.A.)

DENOUNCE GERMAN FOOD CONTROLLER

BERLIN, Oct. 22.—Food Controller Liermes' opposition to the admission into Germany of the 5,000 cows donated by American farmers and against the importation of flour from America said to have been offered by New York bakers has aroused the wrath of some of the liberal newspapers of Berlin. They charge the food controller with interfering with negotiations with the American company which is assembling the cows donated by American farmers and declare that the ministerial pedantry which threatened for a time to deprive Germany of the American gift of cows will be made the object of interpellation in the Reichstag. The food controller demurred to accepting the cows on the ground that their transportation across the Atlantic was not feasible and that there was a shortage of fodder for them here. His critics say that if the Americans could send across the ocean 1,500,000 soldiers with fighting equipment and food, they ought to be able to move 5,000 cows across. They add that the cows will only take the place of those delivered to France and Belgium which would have been fed in Germany. The food controller's opposition to uncontrolled importation of American flour was based on fear that it would disrupt arrangements already made to ration the people. The Berlin bakers are anxious to have the American flour sent here in the hope that it will break the monopoly now held by German farmers.

the theory that those who travel and thus avoid themselves of our diplomatic establishment in foreign parts should pay for the privilege. The representative further proposed to build the White House by employment of American labor. It was suggested that such a plan might involve needless expense, especially in China where the American would compete with local labor, but Mr. Porter contended that in a matter where sentiment was concerned, the additional expense was not worth considering.

NEW GOLD FIELDS FOUND IN RUSSIA

BERLIN, Oct. 22.—Discoveries of new gold fields in different parts of Russia are reported by a German trade journal. In Buchara (Afghan frontier) on the upper waters of the Amu-Darya and its tributaries, rich placer-gold deposits are reported to have been located and further successful prospecting has been made on the Safod-Darya and Kachan. Placer-gold has also been discovered in the Ussuri district in the Iman Basin (Eastern Siberia). In several other parts of Siberia prospectors have lately found not only placer-gold but rich gold-bearing quartz, say the reports.

FEDERAL INDICTMENTS AGAINST ARMOUR CO.

NEW YORK, Oct. 22.—A federal indictment containing 127 counts was returned here yesterday against Armour & Co., Chicago packers, and various officers of the concern, charging profiteering in violation of the Lever act. Individuals indicted were J. Ogden Armour, president of the company; S. Edison White, vice president; Herbert H. Phillips, manager of the dressed beef department in Chicago; Arthur H. van Pelt, New York district superintendent; Charles N. Meyer and Will A. Mettsche. The indictment returned after an extended inquiry conducted by a representative of the attorney general's office, charged the defendants with selling different lots of New Zealand lamb costing 18.46 cents per pound for 24 to 26 cents. These alleged prices were held to be unreasonable. Armour Officials Talk CHICAGO, Oct. 22.—Declaring that "with our lamb business as a whole showing a loss it seems a rather bitter joke to indict us for making too much money," officials of the Armour & Co. packers, late yesterday, issued a statement commenting on the federal indictments returned in New York yesterday charging profiteering. The statement follows: "We are at a loss to understand these New York indictments. The reasonableness of profits cannot be judged by consideration of a few transactions. We made some money through the sale of New Zealand lambs but we did not make enough out them to offset the losses we sustained in the sale of domestic lambs, and with our lamb business as a whole showing a loss, it seems a rather bitter joke to indict us for making too much money. The net result of the

New Zealand lamb business was to give consumers meat for less money than they would otherwise have had to pay."

HIGH WHALE CATCHES LONDON, Oct. 22.—Whalers from the Shetland Islands have had a successful season this year and at Olnafirth station 260 whales have been brought in. At Collafirth station the total catch landed was 130.

HE'S AN IMMIGRANT

Lil' Ol' Foxy Long Ears Emigrated to the United States From Africa

This cute little rascal is a fox, probably the first of his kind to emigrate to the U. S. A. Landed recently in New York, from Africa, and already is Americanized so thoroughly that he'll play with a large baseball a thoughtful boy tossed into the cage.

The African fox is noted chiefly for his ears. They're the longest and largest ears in the whole fox family. Indeed, this bit of fur is mostly ears.

In his African jungle home the long-eared fox (Cape fox) needed good ears to give him warning of an enemy's approach.

That was all he needed, for his fine running legs took him out of the danger zone.

In his new American cage, Long

Ears isn't afraid. He's a playful fellow, and wouldn't go out of his way to attack anything more than twice his size.

BENSON REAPPOINTED

Chairman and Four Members of Shipping Board Nominated by President Wilson

WASHINGTON, Oct. 23 (By Associated Press).—Admiral Benson was yesterday reappointed chairman of the shipping board. At the same time President Wilson appointed four other members.

Other members appointed were Frederick C. H. Thompson of Mobile, Ala.; Gavin MacNab of San Francisco; Theodore Marburg of Baltimore and Martin Gillen of Wisconsin, formerly connected with the board.

The other members of the board must be appointed under the terms of the merchant marine act, which provides for seven commissioners, two from the Atlantic coast, two from the Pacific coast, one from the Gulf coast, one from the lake region and one from the interior. Mr. Gillen was appointed a member of the old board by the president, but the state did not act on his nomination and consequently he never qualified. There are now only two members of the board, Admiral Benson and John A. Donald.

The appointments made yesterday are recessions. The nominations will be sent to the senate after that body convenes in December, as it has authority under the law to approve or refuse to approve the nominations.

Mr. Thompson, the member from the Gulf coast, is publisher of the Mobile, Ala., Register and the Mobile News Item. He has been an active newspaper man since 1892, and was a delegate to the Baltimore convention at which President Wilson first was nominated. Mr. Gillen was special assistant to John Burton Payne when Judge Payne was chairman of the board. He is a democrat.

DRIVERS OF AUTOS

Traffic Officers Are Interviewed by Sun Reporter

"Are women more careful than men in driving automobiles?" was the question put to some of the local traffic officers by a Sun reporter today. "It's about 50-50," said one. "We give the women the preference in directing traffic," replied another and still another said: "The women are by far the worst when it comes to comparison."

From statements of the officers it seems there are many good women chauffeurs in this city and some who are more careful and efficient than men, but on the other hand there are a great many who will never become good drivers. In the words of the officers, if they drive an automobile all their lives. Women are easily unnerved, the officers claim, and it is with that type of woman driver that the most trouble is experienced. Other women are particularly slow at catching traffic signals and because of their slowness in sizing up situations they cause many traffic jams. But according to the officer who made the 50-50 statement, women drivers nearly always give the traffic officer a look for his signal.

"On the whole," this officer claims, "the women generally pay more attention to auto laws than the men. But because of their conscientiousness in trying to obey the law and traffic rules they become nervous and thus liable to trouble."

"In regard to the men," said one traffic general, "it is not infrequent that we see business men driving automobiles, seemingly so engrossed in thought that they drive through the streets unmindful of what is going on about them and even of our signals. Many of those same business men return later and apologize for having passed without waiting for the traffic signal, saying that they were thinking and forgot."

"Men drivers," continued officer No. 2, "on trucks or automobiles, having occasion to travel through the business sections frequently give hardly any bother at traffic points because we nearly always know where they are going and they co-operate in an exchange of signals. Then there are those young fellows reckless by nature, who try to make auto rules of their own, but after one warning they usually take care."

"I could point out many men drivers in this city," said another "who are totally unfit to drive automobiles and who should be kept off the highways. You don't find that class among the women chauffeurs, for the main difficulty with them is in understanding the traffic regulations."

A humorous phase of the question was revealed when one traffic director stated that the good-looking young girls with a smile are the best drivers and always get the first signal to go ahead.

"Some of the worst drivers of automobiles, whether they be men or women," asserted two policemen, "are those plotting out-of-town machines. They give more bother and cause more traffic jams than the average man or woman driver of Lowell. They do not wait for signals, they cut corners, they drive on the wrong side of the street and drive fast."

Then the officers told that they give

old women pedestrians crossing the streets careful attention and that old women nearly always look for this attention. Because many men do not do likewise they have some very narrow escapes from injury. Women apparently on shopping tours, carrying bags and hurrying about the walks, frequently step into the streets absent-mindedly directly into the path of the rushing traffic.

Once a man, crossing Merrimack square while reading a paper, walked into the path of a machine and was so startled when the officer and people yelled at him that he jumped onto the hood of the oncoming machine and was carried for about 25 feet.

"If pedestrians would be more careful," a well known traffic officer declared, "drivers would not be termed so reckless."

The traffic officers also serve as information bureaus. They are asked some of the silliest questions, they claim, and queries always seem to come just at the busiest time when they are breaking their backs keeping the ways clear.

"What's the way to Nashua?" asked one driver recently.

"In this street, then to the left and take first right across the river."

"Well, how do I get across the river?" the stranger asked while the officer stood waving his arms.

"I wouldn't tell you to go that way if you had to swim," replied the officer. "There's a bridge there."

TO FINANCE FARMERS

Move Demands New Methods of Extending Credit, Says Los Angeles Banker

WASHINGTON, Oct. 22.—Financing the farmers of the country in the marketing of their crops demands new methods of extending credit so as to prevent unjust price depreciation, Henry M. Robinson, a banker of Los Angeles, who was chairman of the United States Bituminous coal commission, declared today in addressing the convention of the American Bankers' association. A change in the bankers' point of view and the establishment by producers of co-operative marketing agencies were suggested as means for improving present conditions.

Sloan's Liniment (Pain's Enemy)

old attitude. Whether this should be done through banking machinery or through proper co-operative marketing remains to be decided. However, some method must be devised for reducing the pressure on the producer which forces him to dispose of his crop, either at the moment the harvest is completed or while its movement is under way, as this has been too often used as a means for price depreciation. Methods also must be discovered for lowering the cost of financing him.

The tendency of the co-operative organizations of producers toward use of their great power to the disadvantage of other producers, Mr. Robinson said.

Regarding current practices in the movement of grain and cotton, Mr. Robinson said:

"For many years it has been accepted as a part of the obligation of the banks of this country to finance the movement and storage of grain, but no commodity considering its importance, has shared as little in the financial resources of the country as has cotton—this principally due to the lack of adequate warehouse system in the production area and lack of an open market for paper issued against the product.

"Insufficient effort has been made to place cotton and its storage on a basis of credit in a form that would be readily marketable on its own merit.

"The difficulties of financing even legitimate holdings of such commodities as grain and cotton, for the purpose of conducting a movement in an active and orderly way, are becoming increasingly greater and more complex and bankers must use their best thought to see that each producing industry receives a fair share of the available credit and bears its fair share of the burden and pressure when a credit shortage exists.

"In the present emergency, requiring the rationing of credits, a measure of financial support proportionate to cotton's contribution to the credit resources of the country, and with proper consideration for the delays in moving exportable surplus because of the low ebb of European credit, should be given."

The Equal Of Previous $10 and $12 Values!

Never in the history of this national chain shoe company have we resorted to such measures as we are taking these days. But with prices on the downward march, you are entitled to every benefit that they bring. Instead of selling these shoes at the prices at which they were built to sell—$7.85 and $8.95—we have reduced every pair to $5 and $6!

And this doesn't apply to just to certain models—but our entire Fall stock, numbering hundreds of styles, in all leathers and all sizes. Furthermore, these shoes are the same quality that previously sold for $10 and $12! We positively guarantee that no store anywhere can match these values at $5 and $6, or your money refunded. Come tomorrow and share in these big savings.

pictures will eventually displace many text-books in the public schools, predicts Louis Nusbaum, associate superintendent of the schools in this city. Thirty public schools here now have motion picture machines and rent films from the film exchanges for use in their lessons.

"More can often be learned in five minutes with an instructive, specially prepared motion picture film than in an hour of study from the text-book," said Mr. Nusbaum in urging the idea before the property committee of the board of education. "Motion picture machines would help out in the text-book shortage."

COURAGEOUS MOTORMAN

Jumps Aboard Burning, Runaway Car and Applies
the Brakes

An outboard, one-man car going up Third street last night became disabled at the corner of Beech and Third streets, on the brink of the hill, and in spite of the courageous efforts of Motorman Patrick J. McNamara to stop it, coasted wildly down the hill, with all hand brakes on but with the wheels sliding over the leaf-covered tracks. The efforts of the motorman to stop the car proved futile until the corner of Bridge and Third streets was reached when it was brought to a stop.

The car had nearly reached the turn from Third into Beech street when an overheated motor burst into flames. About 20 passengers in the car were ordered out and the motorman attempted to put out the fire. The blaze was so far under the car that it could not be reached by hand. Lieut. David Petrie of the police, who happened to be there at the time, sent in a call to the fire department from a nearby house, but while he was telephoning the air brakes of the car gave way and it started dashing down the hill.

The motorman jumped aboard and applied all the hand brakes. The car had gained such momentum, however, that the wheels continued to slide over the wet tracks and the car did not stop until it reached Bridge street. The reports of witnesses of the accident are that if Motorman McNamara had not jumped aboard and applied the hand brakes there would have been a serious accident. If the car had gone down the hill with no brakes on, it would have jumped the tracks in the curve at Bridge street and dashed into the buildings at the opposite side of the street. The fire apparatus arrived just as the car was brought to a stop. "The deed of Motorman McNamara," said Lieut. Petrie this morning, "deserves the highest commendation. Nothing that can be said in his behalf is too good for his courageous actions."

KEEPING BUSY

Painters of Public Property Department Working on Memorial Building—Carpenters Busy

Painters of the public property department are engaged in painting the exterior of the window frames of the Memorial building and are also doing considerable painting inside the building.

The carpenters of the department are working on the new addition to the Vocational school in Broadway and on the new portable school being erected in the Johnson school yard. During the past few months all rooms in the Green, Edison, Lincoln and Washington schools have been renovated, the dark green paint on the walls being replaced by buff color. The change has made a decided improvement in the lighting effect of the rooms, it is said, as the lighter colored walls have made it unnecessary to resort to artificial illumination on dark days.

Cabinet to End Tie Up

slow, and it was understood they expected a reply from the premier to the communication sent him yesterday, giving him to understand that the railway men would quit work Sunday at midnight, unless the strike was settled by tomorrow or negotiations which would effect a settlement had been begun.

Meanwhile the government and some of the miners' leaders were exploring the ground in an effort to find some basis for an adjustment.

Robert Williams, general secretary of the transport workers, announced that the transport men "look upon the danger of the enrollment of volunteers, especially from the middle class and white guards of the community, as of more provocation than the use of troops."

Consequently, continued the announcement, the transport men are considering the granting of permits. In the event of an extension of the coal strike, by which the appropriate trade unions would provide the necessary food for the community.

Premier Lloyd George and the members of the cabinet were consulting informally today with a view to finding a channel for a settlement. Opinion generally expressed in government circles was that a definite opportunity for negotiations would be found before any serious development arose from the threats of the railroad men and transport workers.

Ready for Emergency

In the house of commons, Edward Shortt, the home secretary, gave notice of the presentation of a bill to make exceptional provision for the protection of the community in cases of emergency.

The parliamentary committee of the "Trades" union congress has called a conference for Wednesday next of the executives of the affiliated unions to consider methods of helping the miners in their effort to settle the strike. The railwaymen decided to invite the miners' executive to a meeting tomorrow. The miners' executive will meet tomorrow to consider the invitation and the general situation.

Frank Hodges of the miners' union, announced today that nothing was known there regarding any appeal for assistance to the international organization of the miners. No efforts had been made to approach Americans in connection with the miners' strike, he added.

Serious economic conditions are already becoming evident in some localities as a result of the miners' strike, and there is a widening circle of idleness that causes concern. Drastic restriction of railroad and shipping schedules has already been ordered, and many industrial plants have been forced to close because of lack of fuel.

Strike in Brussels

BRUSSELS, Oct. 22.—The strike movement among the Charleroi coal miners, where 2000 men went out yesterday, will probably be followed by the railway workers, street car employees and metal and gas workers. It was predicted in labor circles today. The movement is one of protest against the payment of an income tax.

the largest and most complete quarters of any legion post in this state. Through the generosity of the former directors of the Community Service and of the trustees of the First Trinitarian church, owners of the building, the American Legion is given the use of the building rent free, until October 1, 1921.

The building was leased by Community Service, Inc., from the trustees of the Trinitarian church and last night the use of the building for the rest of the term of the lease, which expires in March, 1921, was donated to the Legion by representatives of the lessees. From March, 1921 until Oct. 1, 1921, the trustees of the First Trinitarian church have donated the use of the building, rent free, to the Legion.

The building is solely for the use of Legion members and attempts will be made to defray expenses from profits derived from the bowling alleys, the billiard tables and from other activities which will be run from time to time. The money for the salaries of the building manager and the janitor has been given to the Legion post by Community Service. The formal opening of the Legion clubhouse will be held on Armistice Day, November 11 when all quarters will be thrown open to the inspection of the public. The administration of the building is in charge of the house committee of the Legion comprising Joseph A. Moilloy, chairman; Michael H. Harrington, Fred A. Estes, George Toye and Stephen Kearney. John J. Walsh, former club director for the Community Service, has been elected club manager for the Legion quarters.

In the basement of the building, which is a four-story structure, there are four modern bowling alleys, a set of up-to-date shower baths and the heating plant. On the street floor there is a large lounge and reading room, toilets, billiard room, administration office of the local legion post, office of the club manager, office of the Legion ladies' auxiliary, naturalization office of the chamber of commerce, office of the principal of the K. of C. Service school, office of the state examiner for chauffeurs' licenses. On the second floor there is a auditorium and gallery with seating capacity of 600. The third floor, formerly used as a dormitory, will possibly be fitted out as a gymnasium next spring. There are more shower baths on this floor. The plumbing throughout is modern and the building is heated by steam. The Legion will retain the modern kitchen used by community service in connection with the restaurant for banquets and so on.

The westerly end of the building has been given up to the K. of C. by the house committee for the establishment of class rooms for the service school. Five rooms on the second and third floors will be used for this purpose.

CADETS DIDN'T DUCK

The O.C.L. cadets wish it to be understood that they did not "duck" their game with the Indians second team, for they have one scheduled for Sunday afternoon, October 31. As for not wanting to play, the cadets had to go looking for the game with the Indians. The cadets are willing to play the Indians on Sunday, which is possible because the manager of the Butler team has agreed to a postponement of a later date than the Cadet-Indian game could be played. The manager of the cadets would like to meet the manager of the Indians on the fair grounds this evening at 6:30 o'clock, to make arrangements for the game.

Mr. and Mrs. Dudley L. Page entertained at their home at an informal luncheon last evening a number of friends to meet their guests, Mr. Fletcher S. Brockman and Mr. C. N. Clinton. Mr. Brockman has just returned from a tour of the orient and far east, and after luncheon gave a very interesting account of his recent visit. Over 25 years ago Mr. Brockman went to China to establish the work of the Y.M.C.A., and it was with a great deal of satisfaction that he returned there this summer and saw the wonderful growth of that organization during the past 25 years. With Mr.

Brockman was Mr. Clinton, who also spent 15 years in that very interesting country and who goes next month to Mexico in the interest of the work there.

Among the guests last evening were the following: Mr. and Mrs. Gus Butler, Mr. and Mrs. Donald M. Cameron, Mr. and Mrs. F. A. Platter, Mr. and Mrs. A. F. French, Mr. and Mrs. Chas. H. Hobson, Mr. and Mrs. F. A. Kimball, Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Olney, Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Sheppard, Mr. and Mrs. B. H. Wiggin, Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Nelson, Mr. W. H. G. ## LOCAL MILL SITUATION

Lawrence Co. Plans Wage

Readjustment — Meaning

Reduction in Wages

Agent Walker of the Lawrence Mfg. Co. stated today that the company is arranging a readjustment of wages to become operative next Monday.

This action on the part of the company has been anticipated for some time by the employees, for it was at their request that such action was taken. Because of market conditions and the lack of orders several months ago a great number of the employees of the plant were released and a few weeks ago the underwear departments of the plant shut down tight. It was announced at that time that as soon as present orders were filled the hostery department would also shut down.

Shortly after the underwear end of the mill ceased operations, so Mr. Walker claims, about 25 per cent. of his help requested him to reopen the mill.

The operatives were willing to stand a cut-down in wages rather than be without work. The request was taken under consideration by the mill officials and today it was announced that a readjustment of wages would be become operative next Monday.

Agent Walker stated this morning that the company has no orders on hand at present and he said the 300 employees who are now working are finishing up the production started some time ago. He expected they would wind up their work this week.

But it seems that it will be some time yet before everything is cleaned up and it is hoped before that time there will be a market for the goods. "If business comes in," said Mr. Walker,

"we will keep the hoselery end of the mill in operation and if the orders warrant it we will reopen our underwear department."

Lowell Hoselery

The Ipswich hoselery in Warren street, employing about 500 people, will reopen its doors next Monday after being closed since Oct. 6. The assistant superintendent of the plant stated this morning that all help are to report Monday morning and all will be put to work but he could not state what the working hours would be.

Lowell Hoselery

It was rumored this morning that the Lowell hoselery in Broadway, which has been closed since the early part of July, would start up again next Monday, that a readjustment of wages would go into effect next week.

Supt. Wright of the plant was asked about the readjustment. He said he knew nothing about the future of the hoselery and stated that nothing definite would be learned until the treasurer of the mill, Dr. James H. Sparks, would return from New York.

Tremont & Suffolk Hoselery

"There is nothing new here," said

Agent Rawlinson of the Tremont &

Suffolk mills, this morning. "We are still operating with a very small portion of the help and cannot say what the future will bring about. Of course the hoselery is only a small portion of our mill, but there has been no talk of a wage readjustment."

be gone.

While Sport actually got before the jury in person, his rival in Melrose a photograph that was presented for the consideration of the jury. By ruling of the court, Sport's owner is to be permitted to attempt to estab-

It was a difference of opinion between Sport and Pat, eventuating in

AMUSEMENT NOTES

By Theatres' Own Press Agents

OPERA HOUSE:

Lovers of good, clean, wholesome comedy drama must miss seeing "The Cave Girl" which is being presented this week by the Lowell players at the Opera House. It's a delightful mixture of good humor and characterization that contribute to two hours of solid enjoyment. Miss Marguerite Fields is most entertaining as the primitive girl of the Maine woods, and the others of the cast are equally congenial roles. Order your tickets early and avoid possible disappointment. Next week "The Shadow" a gripping society melodrama will be given. The piece will offer the members of the company ample opportunity to again indicate very forcibly their attainments in high dramatic passages and situations.

THE STRAND:

"Absolutely the most artistic motion picture ever filmed" is the consensus of opinion of critics concerning Mary Pickford's picturization of "Sue Barton," which is being presented the last part of the week at the Strand. Another sweetheart is seen in an entirely different kind of a role than those heretofore interpreted by her. And she does it with all of the grace that makes William Desmond in "A Broadway Cowboy" a delightful comedy.

MERRIMACK SQUARE THEATRE:

Douglas MacLean and Doris May, the popular comedy stars, secure another big hit in "The Jailbird," their latest starring vehicle, now being shown at the Merrimack Square theatre. Mr. MacLean took the role of a cheerful honest crook whose efforts to victimize a community fail when he is unexpectedly enriched by an oil gusher. The humor of the production is quite effective and there are dramatic moments of exceptional strength. Miss May heads a competent supporting cast. The other feature of the current program is "Half a Chance," a dramatic production. The International News, a comedy, Burton Holmes travel picture and "Litterate Digest" round out the bill.

B. F. KETTER'S THEATRE:

Circus-like animals, appearing at the B. F. Ketter theatre this week, consist of eight fox terriers, two monkeys and a pony, and they go through their paces rather faster, perhaps, than do any other exhibited animals of the day. They will make a wonderful appeal to the kiddies.

"A Dramatic Cartoon," which Miss Norton and Paul Nicholson present, is a supply of life in New York. While James H. Donovan, "the king of Ireland," and Miss Marie Lee, the "dancing butterfly," contribute fun and melody and witty dancing. Dorothy Wahl, the singing comedienne, is especially well equipped. Other good acts on this bill consist of Abbott and Burmont, novelty musicians; Tommy Gordon, a comedian, and Margaret Stewart & Co. in artistic posing.

HIVADO THEATRE:

Marshall Neilan's production, "Don't Ever Marry," with Matt Moore starring in the principal role, opened its three-day engagement at the HIVADO theatre yesterday afternoon and drew capacity audiences both afternoon and evening. The picture will be shown today and tomorrow and is one well worth seeing. In addition to the feature production, the HIVADO is showing "A Lady in Paris" in "When Pals Fall Out," King Baggott in a daring episode of the "Havoc Trail," a Chester comedy, "An Overall Hero," and the latest program of Fox news. Don't miss this big bill.

HIGH SCHOOL REVIEW:

The first 1920-1921 edition of the High School Review was issued yesterday to the students of the local schools. The front cover design is by S. Harris, '21, and the cartoon page by George Coupe and W. C. Plante. Other features are three stories by students, a verse by Josephine V. Dudley, '21. Other regular departments include the editorial columns and the "Books." The exchange society and alumni columns are particularly interesting while the spot pages give an accurate account of the football games of this season. The present staff is as follows: Richard Chase, editor-in-chief; J. Donald Adams and A. Francis Byrne, business managers; Shirley Harris and William H. McCann, literary editors; Estelle K. Donnell and Ellen L. McVoy, exchange editors; Marion Hart, society editor; Gregory McAdams, sporting editor; and Gratia Dexter, reporter. There are 18 correspondents for the various classes.

THEIR WAGES STOPPED:

Commissioner of Civil Service Separates Lowell Men From the Municipal Pay Roll

(Special to The Sun)
STATE HOUSE, Boston, Oct. 22.—Payments of wages to 21 men employed by the city of Lowell was stopped yesterday by order of Payson Dana, the commissioner of civil service.

These who are thus separated from the municipal pay roll include a street department—Edward Potand, Edward Green, Charles Curran, Edward Green, Edward Green, John F. Donnelly, Marion Hart, Percy Logan, James McDermott, James McPherson, Thomas Nangle, William Jafferty, Daniel Ryan and Thomas Twomey. All of these men were ordered dropped because the commissioner found there was no authority for their appointment.

In the same department, Patrick Cogan was ordered dropped because there was no authority for his reinstatement, and the same reason was given in the case of Michael B. Kourke. Another dropped in this department is Frank Hardy, the reason in his case being that there was no authority for his re-appointment.

In the sewer department, three men were dropped because there was no authority for their appointment. These were William Bradley, Timothy Dwyer and Stephen Shugrue.

Patrick Mahon, a teamster and laborer in the health department, was ordered dismissed because there was no authority for his reinstatement.

TUBERCULOSIS IN GREECE

More Prevalent There Than
in Any Other European
Country Except Serbia

ATHENS, Oct. 22.—Tuberculosis is more prevalent in Greece than in any other European country for which reliable figures are available, with the possible exception of Serbia. There is no governmental or private program for the control of the disease. The number of physicians in proportion to the population is one to every 1,300.

In the city of Athens the death rate from tuberculosis of the lungs is 294 per 100,000 of population, which is about twice as high as the rate in the United States. The other forms of the disease also are present, making the total tuberculosis death rate 355 per 100,000 of population. One death in every six is due to tuberculosis.

To deal with the disease the existing agencies are inadequate. There is little or no hospital provision for the care of the bulk of the population of 5,000,000. There are less than a score of general hospitals in the country.

There is also an alarming prevalence of typhoid fever, which at times rises to the proportion of an epidemic. Even in the larger cities such as Athens the typhoid death rate is strikingly high. In the last three-year period for which statistics are available the rate was 59 per 100,000 of population, about five times as high as the rate in the United States.

The prevalence of this disease is due largely to the absence of sewers and of inadequate and safe water supply. No improvements in the water supply or sewerage systems have been made since 1905. The rudimentary sewerage system, where any exists, affords little or no protection against surface of underground contamination of water supply, and no safeguard against conveyance of infection.

In Athens plans have been drawn by the national government to provide the city with adequate and modern water and sewer systems. But the execution of these plans has been delayed by the war. The water supply in Athens is at present brought in through an aqueduct built by the Emperor Hadrian about 200 years ago. In the summer months the water is insufficient to carry off the sewage.

SAYS HE PAID $25,000 TO CALL OFF STRIKE

NEW YORK, Oct. 22.—Testimony taken at yesterday's hearings of the legislative committee investigating "the building trust" relative to the payment of $25,000 by Ephraim B. Levy, real estate owner and builder, to have a strike settled on one of his building projects, will be submitted to the "proper prosecuting authorities for immediate action."

The announcement was made last night by Senator Lockwood, chairman of the committee, at the close of the afternoon session. Mr. Levy, in testifying before the committee, declared he had paid the $25,000 to his associate in the construction work, George Becker, one of the largest building contractors in New York, who said he "wanted to pay it to Mr. Brindell and I think the committee."

The Mr. Brindell referred to, evidence divulged, was Robert Brindell, president of the Building Trades' Council of New York City and one of the highest paid labor leaders in the country. Mr. Becker, however, upon the witness stand declared he had paid the money to Brindell, but declared he had paid it to "two strangers," whom he believed to be walking delegates.

He said the money was paid in two installments—$15,000 at one time and the remainder a few days later—and the strike had been called off. Both transactions took place in the lobby of the Hotel Chatham last May.

While admitting that Brindell was a friend of his, Mr. Becker declared the labor leader had had no part in the $25,000 transaction and that his name had not been brought into the deal.

John O'Connor, counsel for Mr. Brindell, appeared before the committee and protested against the testimony given by Mr. Levy. He asked that the hearing be adjourned "until Mr. Brindell can come here." His objection was overruled, but he was informed that the labor leader would be given an opportunity to appear before the committee early tomorrow to defend himself.

Mr. O'Connor later issued a statement declaring: "I do not think any of the testimony is dangerous enough to need a denial. If we should decide to appear here we will be here tomorrow."

Mr. Levy's disclosure came at the opening of the afternoon session when he said he had made similar statements at the attorney general's office several days ago.

The witness said the building under construction involved several million dollars and when the strike was called, although he was "raying union wages and keeping union hours," he was anxious to get the men back to work. He said that when Mr. Becker "informed me that he might be able to arrange it to get the men to working," he produced the money.

Two checks, one for $15,000 and another for $10,000, drawn by Mr. Levy from the bank, were offered in evidence.

Samuel Untermyer, counsel for the committee, asked the witness why he had not made this disclosure on his "own free will," and if his building operations would be held up by his testimony.

"I cannot answer that," replied Mr.
Levy.

Mr. Becker declared he was associated with Mr. Levy in completing the building and was interested in ending the strike.

"And you will admit that you got $25,000 in bills," asked Mr. Untermyer.

"I got it," Mr. Becker replied. "The first $15,000 in thousand-dollar bills and the other in smaller and dirtier money."

When asked as to his disposal of the first $15,000, Mr. Becker testified he had taken it to the race track and lost it, but later the witness admitted that he had given it to "two strangers" in the lobby of the Chatham Hotel in New York, with whom he had been negotiating for several days to have the strike called off.

Under cross-examination Becker declared he did not know the names of the "strangers" to whom he had paid the money, and he didn't care to know them. They might have been a "couple of burglars or may be worse than that," he said.

success of the affair were: John J.

served, the good things being supplied by Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Clement and Mrs. Emma Parker. The success of the evening was due to the efforts of Mrs. Riley, Misses Hazel Wiggin, Viv-

Riddan.

The Margaret Brent civics class of convention at San Francisco this year by Joseph P. Donahue, one of the delegates from the district, at the regular semi-monthly meeting of the class late yesterday afternoon at the league office in Central street.

Mr. Donahue described in detail the duties of the delegates, which are much greater, as said, than the ordinary person realizes. At many of the sessions the delegates had to remain in the great auditorium where the convention was held from 10 o'clock in the morning until well into the evening.

The next meeting of the class on

Difficult to Keep Your Hair Wavy? Read This

If you have not yet tried the new way, the silvertone way, by all means do so. You'll never again use the rubbish heated iron. The curliness will appear so perfectly natural and the hair will be so beautifully luxurious. Instead of dried and parched, thus liquid silvertone serves also as a beneficial dressing for the hair. It is pleasant to use. It should be applied with a clean tooth brush before putting up the hair, drawing the brush through the hair from root to tip.

The hair will have the loveliest curls and waves imaginable in three hours, and it will be easy to manage, no matter how you do it up. A few ounces of the liquid from your druggist will last a long time.—Adv.

MRS. CATT URGES WOMEN TO SUPPORT COX

NEW YORK, Oct. 22.—Mrs. Carrie Chapman Catt, America's most conspicuous suffrage leader and undoubtedly one of the most influential women in the United States, came out unequivocally yesterday for Governor Cox for president.

She made an urgent appeal, although not a democrat, that independent women support Governor Cox and the league.

Mrs. Catt's decision was announced in a letter to Professor Irving Fisher of the Pro-League Independents. She makes it clear that she earnestly desired to remain non-partisan in this campaign, and that only a conviction that through Senator Harding there could be no hope of entering the League of Nations in case of his election finally prompted her to declare for Governor Cox.

"I hold that there is but one course for those who believe in the league and its program and that is to vote for Cox," she says.

CHANCE TO BECOME A PUBLIC SPEAKER

An excellent opportunity for Lowell men and women to gain confidence as public speakers is afforded in the university extension class on this subject which has just been opened at the Kirk street primary school with James G. Dow, Jr., of the Lowell Textile school faculty as instructor.

The class meets every Thursday evening at 7:30 and aims to enable its members to speak forcefully and clearly on their feet. There are no examinations nor text-books required and the registration fee is $1. Only constructive criticism of the work of the members of the class is given. At the present time there are eight men and seven women in the class and in asmuch as the state board of education requires that there be at least 20 members in any university extension class if it is to continue its existence, Mr. Dow is anxious to have five more members enrolled.

The course consists of 12 lessons, the first of which was given last evening. Persons interested may procure application blanks either from Mr. Dow at the Textile school or directly from the university extension department at the state house in Boston.

EXPEDITING WORK OF THE LAND COURT

In order to expedite the work of the land court of the commonwealth in deciding what, if any, interest the city of Lowell has in parcels of land which individuals wish to have registered, City Solicitor William D. Regan has sent a communication to all Lowell attorneys asking them when filing a petition of registration, that they also file a blue print of the plan of the land with the city engineer's office.

In the past, the city engineer has had to send a representative to the registry of deeds to make a blue print of the land from the copy on file there, and very often this has resulted in long delays owing to the inability of the engineer's office to look after the matter at once. Mr. Regan's letter follows:

Dear Sir: As you are aware, in all petitions to the land court of the commonwealth for the registration of land, the city of Lowell files an appearance, and if there is a street, way, public square, or building involved or invaded by the plan filed with the petition, the city of Lowell then files an answer.

To furnish the required information for determination by this department of the city's interest in the land proposed to be registered, it is necessary that the engineering department make a copy of the plan on file and check the same up with the description contained in the petition; and until this information is received by this department, it is impossible for me to execute a withdrawal of appearance. In order that the determination of the city's interest shall be facilitated and the allowance of the decree of registration hastened, I would suggest hereafter, in filing a petition of registration, that you file a blue print of the plan with the engineer's office of the city, said blue print to be a print of the tracing filed in the case. If this be done, I believe it will materially assist you in securing, so far as the city of Lowell is concerned, a speedy determination by the court.

Sincerely yours,
WILLIAM D. REGAN,
City Solicitor.

HIGH PROOF MOONSHINE AT POLICE STATION

A dress suit case, checked recently at the baggage office in the Middlesex street depot by an unknown man, and which has since been found to contain high proof liquors, referred to by the police as "moonshine," is now awaiting identification at the police station.

Last night two men appeared at the baggage office for the case, claiming that the owner sent them for it. Officer Ealy happened along at this time and becoming suspicious, opened the case and found a one gallon jug marked "Elisir of Pepsin." Upon analysis it was found to contain 50% alcohol, a bottle labelled "Hypophosphites," 1932; and another unlabeled bottle found to contain 100% alcohol.

BIG ULCER ALL HEALED

"Now I Can Walk," Says Mrs. Southcott of Medina

"Here is another letter that makes me happy," says Peterson, of Buffalo. "One that I would rather have than a thousand dollars."

"Money isn't everything in this world. There is many a big-hearted, rich man who would give all he has on earth to be able to produce a remedy with such mighty healing power as Peterson's Ointment, to sell at all druggists for 35 cents a large box."

Read this letter, written February 14, 1918, by Mrs. Albert Southcott, of Medina, N. Y. It seems like a miracle, but it is true, every word of it. I know it because I get similar letters almost every day from people who have used my ointment for old sores, eczema and piles.

Dear Sirs:—
"I was an untold sufferer from an old running sore and ulcers. I had tried most everything without any relief from pain. A friend told me of your wonderful ointment and the first box took away the pain that had not left me before in years, and after using just nine dollars worth of the salve I am cured. The ulcer was 9 inches by 4 1/2 inches, is all healed and I can walk. Never, never will I be without Peterson's again."

"You may use this to recommend your ointment if you wish. I cannot say enough to praise it." Yours truly, Mrs. Albert Southcott, Medina, N. Y. Mail orders filled by Peterson Ointment Co., Inc., Buffalo, N. Y.—Adv.

MARKET AND CENTRAL STREETS

speakers who had been expected to be present only two showed up.

No Applause For Coolidge

The audience showed an indisposition to become enthusiastic over points in the addresses that had been calculated by the speakers to evoke applause. Mention of Governor Coolidge's name in a way to bring forth a handclasp was greeted with stony silence. Henry Cabot Lodge was given several good hands. Mention of democratic vice presidential candidate, Roosevelt, as a "little man with a big name" was followed by Senator McCormick with a wait for applause, to which he thanked the audience when it was tardily forthcoming.

A. G. Walsh was introduced by David Dickson, chairman of the republican city committee, to preside at the meeting.

When Senator McCormick, a tall, athletic-looking individual, stepped to the front for his address he proceeded to prepare for his forensic efforts by grasping the speaker's desk and giving it a forcible removal into the background.

"It is claimed by the democrats," said the speaker, "that their party is the special providence of the workingman. They would have us forget that in 1913 all over this land of our spindles were silent, mills were dark, furnaces were cold, forges were unoperative and day after day thousands of men sought for work that they could not find."

Disorder and Depression

"You find today disorder and depression all over the country. Unemployment is multiplying from the Atlantic to the Pacific."

"Long before the war was over every country in Europe began to prepare for the coming of the days of peace. Departments were established to carry on with as little friction as possible the demobilization of armor and industries. Plans were made to relax the iron hand of the government on the affairs of the people, and to reduce prices without undue injury to the business man. You would have thought there would have been a department at Washington to arrange for the demobilization of our industries. There was not. The administration failed utterly to provide for demobilization and reconstruction."

"Have you noticed the events of the last few weeks? Wherever I have gone over this country I have found the same thing—closing industries and apprehension everywhere. In Chicago tens of thousands of men are seeking work. Men who took up arms to defend their country, have been compelled to lay down their tools. Have we not learned that the democratic party is as inept to prepare for peace as it was to keep us out of war?"

Denounces Governor Cox

The speaker denounced Governor Cox for his alleged untruthfulness. Continuing he said: "Are you not ashamed of a man nominated as presidential candidate taking part in a campaign of vilification of the foremost citizen of the Bay State—Henry Cabot Lodge. Even his opponents in the senate would deny the charge that he has been a conspirator. Shame! Shame! Shame! In a controversy over the covenants, about which men disagree, a man should put aside argument for abuse."

The speaker referred to Woodrow Wilson as "drunk with arrogance and power." He said that the republican party stands for a court of international law to which should be submitted such questions "as we are willing to arbitrate." He said that the nation would never consent to arbitrate questions relating to immigration. He asserted that the English and French texts of the League of Nations covenant were contradictory and that in a dispute the French text would govern.

Predicts Harding's Election

In closing the speaker predicted the election of Senator Harding and said that one of his first acts after inauguration would be to summon congress to put aside the "covenant conceived in hate" and establish peace by setting up a court of international justice.

Mrs. William Lowell Putnam, of Boston preceded Senator McCormick as a speaker. She urged women to take a part in politics and deprecated the formation of a woman's party saying "let us work shoulder to shoulder with our men, especially in the republican party." She expressed the opinion that Senator Harding "wears well" as a candidate. She referred to a number of matters of legislation in which women should be interested, including maternity, baby laws, regulation of billboards and the unification of public health activities of the federal government under a secretary with a seat in the cabinet. In closing she said: "The Wilson League of Nations is dead." We can never get a league through the democratic party. Senator Harding is planning for one such as outlined by that great international lawyer—Elihu Root."

ELIHU ROOT REPLIES TO GOVERNOR COX

NEW YORK, Oct. 22.—Elihu Root last night made public the following telegram to Governor Cox replying to his request to "correct" an alleged "false" statement in Mr. Root's New York address Tuesday regarding the governor's position upon the League of Nations:

"I have today received your telegram dated yesterday. I would not willingly do you injustice, and I do not think I have. You began your campaign by an interview with the president and an authoritative statement that you and he were in complete accord upon the League of Nations. I cannot be mistaken about his position. Through-out the long struggle in the senate he steadfastly refused to give his assent to any reservation which substantially changed the covenant as he brought it back. He certainly has not changed. His very recent utterances show that if you have changed from that complete accord with him, I have not heard of it.

Publicly Pledged For Wilson Plan

"Such a change is not indicated by the vague and general expressions of your telegram saying that you will accept reservations that will clarify that will be helpful, that will reassure the American people, that you would sit down with the members of the senate, that you would confer with Mr.

Wilson, Mr. Taft and myself, and all others who have a sincere purpose, because you are the one who would determine what was helpful, what would reassure the American people, what advice you would follow, and you are solemnly publicly pledged to an agreement with Mr. Wilson concerning the covenant he brought back from Europe.

"There is one statement of your telegram that does give a definite idea of where you stand upon what Mr. Wilson declares to be the heart of the league—the general alliance of Article 10, by which the United States would undertake to guarantee against aggression the territory and independence of every member of the league and to make that guarantee good, by war if necessary.

"You say in your telegram that you will accept reservations that 'will clearly state to our associates in the league that congress and congress alone has the right to declare war, and that our constitution sets up limits in legislation and treaty-making beyond which we cannot go.'

"That it seems, is what you are willing to do about Article 10. Well, it is absolutely nothing. Everybody knows already that only congress has a right to declare war and that there are limits to legislation and treaty-making power. All governments of all civilized nations know it. You accomplish nothing by telling them of it again.

"The trouble about giving the guarantee provided in Article 10 is that the making of a treaty containing it is a solemn assurance to all the nations that it is within the treaty-making power, and that the promise to make war binds congress as fully as it binds all other members of our government to maintain the pledged faith of the United States.

"In all governments the power to declare war rests somewhere, and an agreement to make war is an agreement that that power shall be so exercised by the officers in whom it rests. A refusal by congress to pass the necessary resolution would simply be a breach of the treaty.

Treaty Would Require Making War

"An analogous case is the power of congress to appropriate money. There is no other power in our government to do that, but, if the United States makes a treaty agreeing to pay $1,000,000 to another country, would anyone say that the obligation could be canceled by a refusal of congress to appropriate the money? Certainly not; the only effect would be that the United States would have broken faith.

"The real question is whether we shall enter into a guarantee under which the faith of treaties will require congress to pass a resolution declaring war. That is what your telegram makes it clear you propose.

"On the same day when you sent the telegram, according to the press reports, a meeting at Providence someone in the audience asked you 'Would you accept the lodge reservations to the League of Nations? There was your opportunity. Among those reservations was one which said:

"The United States assumes no obligation to preserve the territorial integrity or political independence of any other country by the employment of its military or naval forces, etc., unless in any particular case the congress which under the constitution has the sole power to declare war, or to authorize the employment of the military or naval forces in the United States, shall in the exercise of full liberty of action by act or joint resolution so provide."

"That reservation would leave congress free whenever the time came to act in accordance with its judgment and conscience, and the judgment and conscience of its constituents regarding the merits of the controversy at that time.

"Your position as you now state it would leave congress bound by the solemn pledge of faith of our country to pass the resolution for war, no matter what the merits of the controversy might be.

"Your answer is reported to have been, 'The lodge reservations never were seriously suggested. If they had been, Senator Lodge would have declared for them by a republican platform adopted at Chicago.' And thus you side-stepped the question and you state in your telegram to me the perfectly false thing you are willing to do upon the subject of Article 10.

"Your telegram to me undertakes to state your case, and both what you say and what you refrain from saying concerning the understanding I expressed in my speech that your position and purpose are to impose upon the United States the covenant negotiated at Paris, without any real change whatever."

NATION-WIDE SEARCH

Police Seek Wm. F. Brines
in Connection With Murder of Drewes

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 22.—A nation-wide search was instituted today for William F. Brines, the University of Pennsylvania freshman, for whom a warrant was issued yesterday, charging him with the murder of Elmer C. Drewes, the Dartmouth student slain here last Saturday night. The young men were said by the police to have been close friends.

The authorities declared they had "a large quantity of evidence directly pointing to Brines as being responsible for the death of Drewes."

One theory of the police is that he was killed in a dispute over the purchase of an automobile. Before leaving his home in West Philadelphia, last Saturday night, Drewes told his father he intended buying a second-hand motor car, and those working on the case said it has been learned that it was Brines' machine he planned to purchase.

A car found abandoned yesterday a mile from where Drewes' body was discovered, was identified as having belonged to Brines and is the one the Dartmouth student intended buying, according to the detectives. In the car, which was stained with blood, were found an automatic pistol with two cartridges missing and two empty bottles.

The police have been searching for Brines for several days. He lived with his mother, who is a widow, in West Philadelphia and their apartment has been closed since Sunday. He has not attended classes at the university since last week. Mrs. Brines was said to be in a local hospital suffering from nervous trouble.

WRECK BLOCKS TRAFFIC
IN SO. BOSTON STATION

BOSTON, Oct. 22.—The South Terminal station was partly cut off from traffic this morning, and hundreds of commuters were forced to walk over ties and across bridges from South Boston, by the derailment of three cars of the New York, New Haven & Hartford railroad near the center of the switching disjunct in the yard outside the station.

The morning train to Cape Cod and a string of empty sleepers which was backing out, both moving in the same direction, side-swiped when they ran into a converging switch. The baggage and mail cars of the Cape train were thrown off the tracks, blocking all the tracks to which the switch was the key. The cars were not much damaged, and no person was hurt.

A VITAL QUESTION

THERE'S a great deal of newspaper talk now about clothing prices—and it is a vital question to every man—vital to his purse—vital to his judgement—to know where to get full measure for every dollar he spends for his clothes—such knowledge is of infinite value to him!

Here's the Answer--

IN anticipation of the downward trend of prices—every P&Q garment has been priced at REPLACEMENT VALUE NOW—to the sacrifice of most of our already small profit—and in many instances at a loss.

THE P&Q standard of quality must be maintained, and the P&Q reputation for low prices is nation-wide and must be upheld no matter at what sacrifice.

The evidence of this timely action is apparent in every one of the,

CHAIRMAN GARY TALKS

Declares Business Prospects
Unusually Bright, Both in
U. S. and Abroad

NEW YORK, Oct. 22.—Business prospects are unusually bright, both in the United States and abroad, Elbert H. Gary, chairman of the United States Steel corporation, declared in an address on "The Situation in France and Belgium," before the American Iron and Steel Institute here today. He returned recently from an extended tour of the devastated regions.

"Although this is a time for courage, optimism and caution," he said, "the business skies are practically without clouds. As always, there may be showers from time to time, but there is nothing in the atmosphere to indicate the approach of dangerous storms.

"If there should be a serious reaction and depression, which now seems improbable, it will be the fault of those who are connected with business operations or others who, by reason of official positions, improperly interfere, and not because of any fundamental weaknesses in our resources and opportunities.

"With reference to individual cases of lines of general business, I believe in many instances prices have been outrageously high. This observation applies more especially to municipalities, so called, and to smaller departments of industry. It also includes employees in certain trades; but it does not justify a general condemnation to the masses of workmen.

"The present tendency is toward a lower, more reasonable and fairer relative basis. The difficulty is found in the fact that every individual is perfectly willing that all others shall make reductions—the larger the better. Now a general public, including particularly those who are neither buyers nor sellers to any large extent will in one way or another, bring about a fair and reasonable adjustment of prices. The law of supply and demand will be the principal factor.

"The people of the United States have reason for confidence in the business future. They need not be discouraged nor impatient.

"The recovery of industry in France and Belgium from the ravages of war was predicted by Mr. Gary. Rehabilitation was made possible, he said, by the spirit of the French and Belgian people—the good-natured, ardent, persistent and splendid effort to succeed, to restore and to recover.

SEN. HARDING
RETURNS TO MARION

MARION, Ohio, Oct. 22.—With his return to Marion today from his short campaign excursion into New York state, Senator Harding had before him four days of freedom from speech-making before beginning the swing round the circle of his own state that will wind up his campaign.

His front porch program is virtually at an end and the only speaking dates now definitely to be filled are the four next week in Cleveland, Akron, Cincinnati and Columbus.

Some of his friends are urging that he make no attempt to return to Marion between his Ohio trips, but devote the spare time to rear platform speeches.

POLO NOTES

New Bedford, the pace setters, and Lowell, runners up, will clash at the local rink tonight and a red hot battle is in prospect.

The Whalers jumped right into the lead at the opening of the season and by launching a speedy attack have succeeded in maintaining the top rung ever since. All teams realize that the club must be stopped and Lowell in second place is looked upon as the logical team to start applying the brakes.

The Lowell players have rested up since last Tuesday night and all are reported in great condition for the big game.

Bill Duggan, Duke Duffresne, and Paul Gardner are doing the bulk of the work for the league leaders. They play a fine combination game and Jettie and Wiley are improving with every game.

A few setbacks for New Bedford would greatly tighten up the pennant race.

BOXERS SUSPENDED

BRIT and Johnson Given Lay-Off by Licensing Commission—License of Hanover A.C., Boston, Revoked.

BOSTON, Oct. 22.—The boxing license of Frankie Britt of New Bedford, holder at one time of the welterweight and lightweight championships of New England, was suspended yesterday for one month by the state boxing commission. The commission charged that Britt failed to file an engagement at Fall River on Oct. 12.

John L. Johnson, heavyweight of this city, drew a two months' suspension yesterday for failing to appear at the head with a chair at the end of their bout on Oct. 12. Johnson asserted that McCrory, who was the host, had killed him.

The commission also revoked the license of the Hanover A.C. and indefinitely suspended the licenses of all officers of the club. This action followed a public hearing at which several boxers who participated in bouts on Oct. 9 claimed that they were not paid for their services, alleging an aggregate of approximately $800 was due them.

HANDLED BETS ON SERIES

Chicago Broker Says He Placed Money for Boston
Gambler

CHICAGO, Oct. 22.—In an interview published here today, Harry Low, employee of a brokerage firm belonging to the Chicago board of trade, said that he handled bets on the 1919 World Series for J. J. Sullivan of Boston. He says he placed $25,000 among various board of trade members, but that Cincinnati would win the last two games.

Low also says, according to the interview, that Sullivan wired other cities and obtained additional funds to bet on Cincinnati when he found plenty of Chicago bets. Sullivan urged him to bet on Cincinnati himself.

Long says in his interview, but he did not take the advice. He says Sullivan first asked his employees to handle the bets, but they refused and Sullivan persuaded him to do it.

Reports that true bills would be returned by the Cook county grand jury against several men whose connection with the "throwing" of the series has been traced, were in circulation as the investigation was resumed today.

Among the witnesses called were three St. Louis men whose names were brought into the investigation through the testimony of St. Louis last fall by Manager King Gleason of the White Sox, just after the series closed.

Ben Johnson returned today from St. Louis and may go before the grand jury again. It was said that Johnson went to see Phil Ball, president of the St. Louis American league club, in connection with the reorganization of the national commission proposed by the eight National league clubs and three of the American league clubs, but it was said Mr. Ball was in the southwest.

ENGLISH BOXER TO MEET PHINNEY BOYLE

The first boxing show under the new law will be presented in this city next Thursday night, under the auspices of the Crescent A.A.

In arranging for the exhibition of the glove game here the club officials have matched up Phinney Boyle, the local lightweight, and Freddie Jacks, of England, who has been in the decision since shortly after the armistice was signed.

Jacks, while never having appeared in this city is well known among the fans, for he performed in the big all star show staged the past summer in Lawrence by Johnny Cusick. Jacks boxed Harry Kid Brown in the lower river city that day, and while he lost the decision his work made a great hit with Lowell and Lawrence fans at the ringside. He's a fast performer, very clever in ducking and side stepping, and his foot kicking of the ropes is very spectacular.

Boyle has been training for several weeks and announced yesterday that he is ready to fight Jacks in this section. The other bouts on the card will be announced later.

TWO MORE FALL RIVER MILLS REDUCE WAGES

FALL RIVER, Oct. 22.—Two more local concerns, the Anawan mills and the Froco Co., announced today that the wages of their employees will be reduced, to the extent of 20 per cent. in the case of the Anawan mills, and approximately 15 per cent. at the Froco plant. The latter is a spinning mill and employs about 150 hands. The reductions go into effect at both plants next Monday, and the management says the employees have agreed to accept the new schedule rather than face a complete shutdown.

The same reasons for the wage reductions is advanced by the officials of both companies, inability to continue operating unless a loss in production costs were reduced. Labor, the management of these concerns say, is one of the big items today in the cost of production, and it was finally decided that a loss in production costs were reduced. Saturday, Oct. 23, 1920, at 3.00 P. M.

A TWO-TEENMENT HOUSE, No. 229 STACHPOL ST., LOWELL, MASS.

By virtue of a license granted by the probate court, I shall sell at public auction to the person that will bid the highest and comply with the terms of sale, the following described parcel of real estate, of the late Mary A. Clark.

The property is situated at No. 229 Stachpol street and consists of a 2 1/2 story, two-tenement house, and 570 1/2 square feet of land, more or less, with a frontage of about 10 feet on Stachpol street and extending to Bartlett street, having a frontage on both streets.

The lower tenement is composed of front hall, double parlors, sitting room, kitchen, two chambers, bath room, pantry and rear hall.

The upper tenement was occupied by Mrs. Clark and is composed of front hall, parlor, living room, kitchen, two sleeping rooms, sun parlor at the front, also a sleeping room on the top floor. The house is fitted with steam heat. The sun parlor and the two chambers have windows and screens so that one may have open sleeping porches in warm weather and steam heat in cold weather.

There is an automatic water heater in the cellar. There are electric lights and all new electric and gas fixtures, also electric plugs for vacuum cleaner and fans. This tenement has been newly painted, papered, and put in the best of repair at an expenditure of $500 three years ago.

The house is well built, has bay window and porch in front and a porch at the side. There are concrete walks about the house, good lawn, and a large yard in the rear. Along the front is a granite-capped wall and everything about the place is in good repair.

This two-family house should appeal to any person desiring a house where they could have a good tenement to live in and receive a revenue from the other. It is situated within ten minutes' walk of Merrimack square.

The house will be open for prospective purchasers on the morning of the sale.

Administrator's sale at public auction of the estate of Catherine F. Cusack, late of Lowell, deceased, consisting of two cottage houses, and about seven and one-half acres of land situated in South Lowell, Mass., at Nos. 234-260 Woburn street, also lot of 7650 square feet adjoining the above and fronting on Circuit avenue, the same to be sold all in one lot to the highest bona fide bidder, at absolute and unrestricted public sale, on SATURDAY, THE 23rd DAY OF OCT., 1920, AT 3.30 O'CLOCK P. M.

By virtue of a license granted to me by the Probate Court, I will sell to whomsoever will bid the most the above situated properties, comprising two cottage houses and a lot of seven and one-half acres and a lot of 7650 square feet of land, in one lot.

The cottage at No. 234 Woburn street has six rooms, three rooms on the first floor, of parlor, dining-room, and kitchen, and three chambers on the second floor. The house is lighted with gas throughout, and has city water. In the rear of the building is shed and henry. At No. 260 Woburn street is a two-story dwelling and stable, the house has eight good size rooms, has gas throughout, and city water. There are reception hall, parlor, dining-room with china closet, kitchen, pantry and one bedroom on the first floor, and four pleasant chambers on the floor above.

The lot of seven and one-half acres has a frontage on Woburn street of 302 feet, more or less, and a depth of about 100 feet. The land is well situated for use as a city farm, or could easily be subdivided, and sold as building lots, and its location directly on the electric car line, and being but a single car fare, close to church, school, etc., gives it an added value for future improvement; it is within a very short distance of a considerable real estate development, and this section is regarded and is known particularly as a home place.

The lot adjoining contains 7650 square feet, has a frontage on Circuit avenue of 50 feet, and a depth of 153 feet. This lot adjoins the building at No. 234 Woburn street, and its dimensions make it a splendid building lot and is situated within half a minute's walk of Woburn street, and is in a neighborhood where about everyone owns their own home.

This sale should especially attract all classes interested in real estate, the home-seeker, the investor, and the speculator, as the dwellings are rented and can be made most attractive with a small outlay, and also with the large tract of land, it can be used by investor or speculator, by subdivision, and erection of homes, which will receive a ready market, and for the home-seeker, the chance to occupy one dwelling, and rent the other, and use the large area for farm purposes, if he so chooses.

TERMS: $100 must be paid to the auctioneer just as soon as the property is struck off. Other terms made known at sale.

By order of John J. O'Connell, Administrator of the Estate of Catherine F. Cusack.

FOOTBALL WEEK-END PROGRAM HUMMER

Lowell football fans will have an attractive menu served them over the week-end, judging from the games scheduled for tomorrow and Sunday on local gridirons.

Tomorrow afternoon both Lowell Textile and Lowell high schools will play at home and each contest is expected to draw a large crowd of fans of the rough and ready game. Textile will line up against the Massachusetts Institute of Technology, an outfit which has been travelling fast this season, while Lowell high's opponents will be Concord, another speedy eleven.

Following their recent visits to Haverhill where they played the Dartmouth football team, Lowell's team, which the Connecticut Agricultural school was their opponent, the Textile men will be glad to get back on their own turf tomorrow afternoon.

The game will be played on the Moody street campus and will be called at 3 o'clock.

Lowell high will enter the Concord game at Spaulding park somewhat handicapped by the absence of a quarter-back, George O'Hare, who was seriously injured in a recent practice session. However, Raymond Liston, a brother of the noted Jimmy, will take his place, and with the help of the team, Lowell's boys should put up a stiff battle. This game also will be called at 3 p. m.

On Sunday afternoon more football will be on tap when the strong Indians of this city will meet the noted Marquette council, Knights of Columbus, team on the Fair grounds. The Indians have secured the services of one Whitehead, a 200-pound man, to play fullback and his weight will undoubtedly assist materially in future Indian victories. He formerly played with the Providence Steam Rollers, last season's champions of New England.

In addition to these three big games, many amateur gridiron contests will be fought out on various fields Saturday and Sunday. A little tinge of frost in the air will make the weather ideal for the sport.

AN UNRESTRICTED AND UNPROTECTED PUBLIC SALE OF THE JOHANNA WALSH ESTATE ON LAWRENCE STREET AT THE CORNER OF WATSON STREET AND COMPRISING THE SIX APARTMENT BLOCK NUMBERED 533-539 LAWRENCE STREET AND THE WALSH HOMESTEAD 5 WATSON STREET IS HEREWITH ANNOUNCED.

We hereby pledge to the highest bona fide bidders who comply with the Terms and Conditions of Sale the two herewith described properties. The sale to take place upon or near the respective premises regardless of any condition of the weather on Friday the twenty-ninth day of October nineteen hundred and twenty commencing VERY PROMPTLY at four o'clock in the afternoon.

LOT ONE—The modern renting and investment property numbered 533 and 535 and 537 and 539 Lawrence Street at the corner of Watson Street comprising six excellent apartments (flats), two on a floor, and these apartments each include six rooms and a pantry and a toilet room and a coal closet and an ash chute and a clothes reel upon the one floor and also a cellar. A more regularly rented, and non-changing tenant investment property will be rarely found—there has been but one change of tenants in this property within ten years. Four of the apartments bring $15 each per month—and this without a mis; and the two upper flats bring $15 each per month—for every month; this means a gross income from this property of $91 every month—as sure as the month comes about. The property is not only a good-looking one and a very substantial one, but its location is beyond criticism and its municipal conveniences are quite complete—even to a modern paved street and a good trolley car service, and handy accessibility to store and church and theatre; and this in addition to its accessibility to several of the most important industries of the city; and it is also within a seven-teen or eighteen minutes' actual and comfortable walk of Merrimack Square. Much more can be said, but a careful and thorough personal investigation of the property will best prove the value of this investment. With Lot One are some 6067 square feet of land with a frontage of 31 ft. on Lawrence Street and 62 ft. on Watson Street and 72 ft. upon the 12 ft. passageway leading from Lawrence Street to Whipple Street.

LOT TWO—The Walsh homestead at No 5 Watson Street, comprising an excellent home property including thirteen rooms on its three floors and also a bath room and a pantry and a cellar and is wired for electric lighting (no fixtures). The homestead has always been occupied by some member of the Walsh family and as a property it is of equally substantial character and desirable location and accessibility as is its companion property—and the two properties never have had but the one ownership. With Lot Two are some 2355 square feet of land with a frontage of 33 ft. on Watson Street and 33 ft. on the passageway in the rear.

TO SUMMARIZE—The two properties are both in excellent condition—nevertheless like all renting properties there are things to be considered that constantly need attention but from any standpoint at all very small they are certainly first-class realities of their type. They have the advantage of an east and south exposure with Lawrence Street at the front and Watson Street at the south side and a 12 ft. passageway upon the north side, leading through from Lawrence to Whipple Street. The location is emphasized because it is about midway between the junction of Wamsit and Rogers Streets with Lawrence Street and the junction of Andrews and Agawam Streets with Lawrence Street, and is just at the point of the greatest width of Lawrence Street. The premises will be open for inspection after ten o'clock a. m. the day of sale—and before this time by an arrangement made at No. 5 Watson Street.

The purchaser of Lot One must deposit with or satisfactorily secure to the Auctioneers $1000 just as soon as the property is struck off; and the purchaser of Lot Two must deposit with or satisfactorily secure to the Auctioneers $500 just as soon as the property is struck off; undoubtedly from fifty to sixty per cent. of the purchase money can be secured upon mortgage, if either purchaser so desires.
